CHICAGO—(INS)—Low lying clouds blanketed Chicago today a few hours before the start of the world series. Government Meteorologist J. R. Lloyd, however, stuck by his earlier prediction that no rain will interfere with the game scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO—From the dismal stockyards to the glittering Gold Coast and through the suburbs, Chicago today was thoroughly baseball daffy and seemingly convinced that the home town Cubs were about to bring the first championship here in 30 years in the world series starting this afternoon with the ball-powdering New York Yankees.

Viewed from a local standpoint, however, a disconcerting fact thus far overlooked is that the series and all the hopes of Chicago's citizens may be over and done by nightfall. Actually, the Cubs do or they don't today. In other words, either the Cubs win the first one or they are out of it, beaten again, unless they can perpetrate a miracle.

They are gambling everything on General Bill Lee, the handsome stalwart and quite capable right-hander, who with little aid, hurled them to the National league pennant. If he fails, so do the Cubs, all is lost beyond recall, and the Yanks then might even wind it up in four straight.

A crowd of more than 40,000 will be packed in the renovated Wrigley Field, with a capacity of 44,000 counting standees, for this opener, in which General Lee will attempt, with customary stout-heartedness, to outpitch Red Ruffing, the Yankee nominee.

If Ruffing can beat Lee, and betting odds say he can, the Cubs then will have to fall back on Clay Bryant and his fast ball, which the Yankees will love, or Dizzy Dean, and his limp arm, in the second game against Lefty Vernon Gomez, who is ready, eager and capable as usual.

SUMMER HINT!

Showers and Thunder Follow Mercury's Drop to 44.

Thundershowers, coming a few hours after the mercury dropped to 44 degrees, brought a hint of summer back to Mansfield last night and today.

Less than a quarter inch of rain fell, however, and light rain was predicted for tonight and Thursday. The temperature is due to drop again tonight in northern Ohio, the weatherman said.

A normal average reading of 59.5 degrees prevailed during the past 24 hours. The temperature range yesterday was from 44 to 75 degrees.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Congressman John J. Boylan, 68, (D., N. Y.) died early today in the French hospital following a protracted illness.

His death followed his rescue from his summer home at Lido Beach, Long Island, from which he was carried when the hurricane struck the coast two weeks ago.

COUNCIL PUTS APPROVAL ON ISSUING BONDS

Votes 8 to 0 to Borrow Funds Against Revenue Expected From State Taxes.

LITTLE MORE THAN DEBT

City Owes $50,000 in Grocery Bills; Culminates 7 Months of Relief Juggling.

City council today had cleared the way for a $60,000 relief fund with its approval last night of the issuance of bonds against revenue the city expects to receive from state taxes for the next five years.

With little comment, council adopted a resolution calling for the sale of bonds by a vote of 8 to 0. James E. Crum, councilman-at-large, was absent.

Climaxes Long Hunt.

The adoption of the measure culminates seven months of juggling the financing of relief in which numerous plans have been considered and attempted.

It was pointed out, however, that the funds from the sale of the bonds would do little more than pay off the present relief indebtedness of $50,000 now owed to city grocers and wholesalers.

Fifth Ward Councilman Fred Miller, chairman of council's finance committee, said that the action taken by council "was only pledging future revenues" but that he couldn't see any other way out.

Future Still Problem.

This brought the question from First Ward Councilman Russell D. Porch who said: "After the $60,000 is gone—then what?"

The bond issues is the result of a meeting of city officials with state relief heads last week.

The measure calls for the issuance of 12 notes of $5,000 each and one note of $500 with the interest rate not to exceed 4 per cent. The notes are to be retired three at a time on March 1 of each year, beginning March 1, 1939, and continuing through March 1, 1942.

The measure provides that they shall first be offered for sale to the sinking fund trustees and if not accepted, then shall be offered at private sale.

The bonds will be retired from funds received from the collection of state beer, malt, excise and admissions receipts through 1942.

MESS BOY HELD IN GEM THEFT

G-Men Get Confession In Loss of Jewels by Tibbett.

SAN FRANCISCO—(U.P.)—Meyer Sopher, 23-year-old mess boy, faced a federal court hearing today on a charge of taking jewels valued at $42,000 from Lawrence Tibbett, the famous baritone.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents recovered $23,000 worth of the jewels and arrested Sopher when the Matson liner Monterey docked here after its trip from Los Angeles.

Sopher was arrested on a tip from Hubert Campbell, 35, dining room steward on the Monterey, who said Sopher showed him the jewels and at the time expressed a belief that they were imitation.

War Scare Sends June Home

Beautiful June Lang, considered by many the prettiest of the pretties in Hollywood, is among 2,111 other scared persons who rushed back to the U. S. on the liner Queen Mary as war scares mounted in Europe. Shown arriving in New York, Miss Lang denied that she intends to wed A. C. Blumenthal or anyone else. Miss Lang's name was linked with that of the millionaire when both sailed on the Normandie a few weeks ago. "Imagine my surprise," chirped Miss Lang, "when I met him on deck."

Bumper Corn Crop to Bring Only Half of 1937 Income

47-Cent Corn Indicates Richland Farmers Will Get $700,000 Less Than Last Year's Price.

Richland county farmers are harvesting a bumper corn crop this fall, but they stand to lose nearly $700,000 on it as compared with last year's income.

With corn selling at 47 cents a bushel, less than half of last year's price, estimated receipts from the new crop were set at $526,400, provided all the corn is placed on the market.

The market figure at this time last year was approximately $1.15 a bushel which, on the basis of the same production, brought farmers more than $1,200,000.

See Hope In Hog Market.

County farmers, however, saw a ray of hope in the improving hog market which provides them with an outlet for a large part of their corn. After slumping far below the 1937 figure, the hog market has started to recover, but it is still more than $2 per hundred under the last October prices.

Estimated corn production in the county this fall is 1,120,000 bushels, slightly higher than the 1937 yield and far better than the 10-year average crop.

Farmers were expected to harvest between 32,000 and 35,000 bushels of corn in the county this year, with an average yield per acre of 35 bushels, County Agent George B. Ganyard said.

ACCUSES DAD

Girl, 12, Says He Shot Mother and Told Her Not to Tell.

BROOKFIELD, Ill.—(U.P.)—Twelve-year-old Martha Jean Matter accused her father, James K. Matter, of murder today at a coroner's inquest into the death of his wife, Marguerite, 37.

"Daddy shot mother but told me to tell the police she shot herself so nothing would happen to him," the child related.

She was the principal witness before the inquest into the fatal shooting of Mrs. Matter with an old army rifle at the family home last Saturday.

Matter has been held on a murder charge since the shooting. He steadfastly had insisted that his wife committed suicide after a quarrel over his use of sedatives to ease the pain of a broken foot bone.

HITS PAY CLAIM

Rail Union Counsel Protests 'High Wage' Assertion.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Railroad labor counsel questioned today as ill-founded the testimony of a witness for the railroads that the wages they pay are high in comparison with other industries.

Charles M. Hay, representing 18 brotherhoods, asked an emergency fact-finding board to discard a pile of charts and graphs offered by the carriers in an effort to justify a proposed 15 per cent wage reduction.

APPEAL DENIED

Supreme Court Rejects Plea In Phone Settlement.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The Ohio supreme court today dismissed an appeal of Earl Harrison, Cleveland labor leader, and others objecting to the $57,500,000 settlement of the Ohio Bell Telephone company refund case.

The supreme court's action removed the plaintiffs' right to intervene before the Ohio public utilities commission and reopen the 14-year-old rate case.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Governor Davey today appointed Daniel S. Earhart, Columbus attorney, as his executive secretary to succeed John Caren, who resigned recently to resume his law practice.

Earhart will receive an annual salary of $6,000.

The chief executive also announced the appointment of Ernest Hall as director of aeronautics at $5,000 a year.

U. S. WARS ON '$30 THURSDAY' PENSION PLAN

Capital Hears Government Banks Forbidden to O. K. Proposed Warrants.

SEEK TO HALT SCHEME

Steps Taken to End Spread of Fantastic Program to Other States.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The federal government today declared war against California's "thirty dollars every Thursday" pension plan in a move to halt the spread of similar schemes to other states.

From high federal financial officials it was learned that all banks coming under the government's supervision will be forbidden to accept as legal tender the pension warrants that would be issued if the California program is adopted.

Would Issue Warrants.

Under the California pension plan, the state would issue warrants in the amount of $30 to each eligible pensioner. Each warrant, in the denomination of $1 would be legal tender in the state provided a two-cent tax stamp is affixed to the warrant every week. This tax stamp is designed to pay the cost of the warrant which would be redeemed for $1 by the state at the end of a year.

Both President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Morganthau already have condemned the proposal as economically unsound, and a study of the scheme's financial ramifications was completed recently by federal fiscal experts.

On the basis of this study which is being kept confidential, the administration's attitude toward the California plan may be summed up as follows:

1. The plan is unconstitutional in the light of supreme court rulings. Article 1, Section 10, Clause 1 of the constitution provides that no state shall coin money, emit bills of credit or make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of legal debts

Hits Tax Burden.

2. Since the state would substitute something for lawful money there would result discrimination against the pension warrants

U. S. JUDGE DIES

West of Northern District Had Been Ill 2 Months.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Federal Judge Samuel H. West, 66, of the northern Ohio district, died early today at his home. He underwent a major operation about ten days ago. He had been ill two months.

The taciturn jurist, a native of Iowa, was appointed to the United States district bench Dec. 11, 1928 by the late President Coolidge. He succeeded Judge D. G. Westenhaver.

Judge West, at 19 years of age, left a job as telegrapher for the Iowa Central railroad to study law at Bellefontaine, O., in the office of his attorney-uncle, William West, who became the "blind judge" of the Ohio supreme court.

Admitted to the Ohio bar in 1893 West served as Bellefontaine city attorney, Logan county prosecutor and as an Ohio State senator.

LEAVES HELM OF TINY NATION TO APPEASE HITLER

Statesman Steps Aside On Dictator's Promise To Be More Generous If He Quits; Resignation Seen Easing Nazi-Czech Tension.

(By International News Service)

PRAGUE—His lifework shattered by the Munich four-power agreement which gave the Sudetenland to Nazi Germany, President Eduard Benes stepped out of office today as the second president of Czechoslovakia.

The successor to Thomas Garrigue Masaryk, who founded this post-war republic and died before a serious threat to its sovereignty developed, reluctantly relinquished the helm of office as had been predicted ever since Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler announced his intention of regaining the Sudetenland.

Political observers had frequently stated Benes could not find it possible to remain as chief of state after the little nation he cherished and built to greatness had been partitioned among its European neighbors.

Benes' resignation is expected to facilitate Czech collaboration with Germany and aid an understanding with the restive Slovaks. Reliable reports said Hitler has promised to be more generous in his negotiations if Benes stepped out of the way.

It was understood Premier Jan Syrovy would act as president pending election of a successor by the national assembly. Benes is expected to make a formal statement tonight.

Future In Doubt.

Benes' resignation left the immediate future of Czechoslovakia in doubt. Only yesterday the cabinet of Premier General Jan Syrovy was reconstituted in an effort to meet the growing demands of Slovaks within the country for full autonomy. As Hungarian demands for equal treatment with Germany and Poland in the matter of minorities mounted, Czechoslovakia seemed destined for a carving up more thorough and far-reaching than ever envisioned.

Benes, in his letter to the government said:

"The eventful three years of my presidency have culminated in very sad events during these last few days.

"These historic events have changed the whole basis of our existence. . . . Circumstances have changed so completely that I feel my remaining in office might constitute an obstacle to the new conditions which confront the state.

". . . It does not mean that I evade my responsibility in this difficult situation, or that I am leaving the vessel in a storm. I only wish to facilitate the development of the policy of the govern-

SLASHED CITY BUDGET OKAYED

Council Approves Estimate of $263,240 for 1939 Muny Operating Expenses.

Without comment, city council last night put its approval on the municipal budget for 1939, setting up $263,240 for the operation of the city departments next year.

Council certified to the county auditor the amounts set up by the county budget commission which includes $72,800 to be derived from levies outside the 10-mill limitation and $180,440 from inside the 10-mill limit.

The city's budget request totalled $302,440, but the commission slashed $55,000 from the operating expenses, reducing it to $247,000. At the city's request, the commission later transferred $16,240 from the general bond retirement fund to the general fund to raise the total to $263,240. This figure is approximately $16,000 more than the amount actually appropriated for 1938.

Among the other measures acted on by council last night was passage of an ordinance for the re-location of Green street, which changes the course of the roadway for a distance of over 700 feet.

Acting to provide funds for the maintenance of traffic lights for the balance of the year, a supplemental appropriation of $600 from COLUMBUS—(INS)—Governor Davey requested Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy today to designate attorneys of his choosing to act as special counsel in a suit brought against the chief executive and the state welfare department to force compliance with social security board requirements.

Davey told the attorney general that "we are most certainly entitled to be represented by counsel and in order to comply with the laws of Ohio, I request that you appoint special counsel to appear for us in this matter at our expense."

"I certainly expect to offer a vigorous defense," he said, "to this suit which has been instituted by two political enemies and I assume that the two welfare department officials will wish to do likewise."

Duffy had said he would not defend the case.

HITS NEW HIGH

Public Debt of $38,426,367,934 Greatest In U. S. History.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The treasury disclosed today that the public debt hit a new all time high of $38,426,367,934 on Oct. 3.

The previous record high was $38,407,012,443 on Sept. 15 when the treasury borrowed more than $800,000,000 to finance the New Recovery program.

CIRCUS 'BROKE'

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(U.P.)—A bankruptcy suit filed in federal court by the Cole Brothers-Clyde Beatty circus of Rochester, Ind., listed liabilities of $418,338.04 and no assets.

Crack Bootleg Ring with Raid On 1,000-Gallon Still in Ohio

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—After a month's intensive groundwork, federal alcohol tax agents today began rounding up a Cleveland-New Jersey bootleg ring after raiding an ingeniously-disguised still in an old barn in Ashtabula county.

The raid, largest to take place out of the Cleveland office in three years, resulted in 13 arrests and confiscation of three expensive automobiles, two trucks and a thousand-gallon still.

More arrests are anticipated, according to C. B. Cooper, agent-in-charge.

"An idea of the extent of this ring can be gained from the fact that wholesalers diluted the stuff two and three times before disposing of it to retailers," Cooper said.

"Had it been a legal distillery the government would have received $77,820 during the month it was in operation."

Agents had been observing the still from the moment it was set up in the barn of a farmhouse 55 miles from Cleveland.

They watched workmen install an expensive pumping system from a nearby well; a 1,000-horsepower, coke-fed steam generator; two 25-foot-tall distilling columns.

They watched the building of two frame bridges across ditches, in the second of which a watchman was constantly in hiding, and the laying of an electric alarm system from the barn to the watchman's hide-out.

Leaving Cleveland last night, 20 agents surrounded the barn after blocking all roadways with automobiles.

Three still "cookers" were picked up in nearby farmhouses spotted during the 30-day vigil.

GETS PEN TERM

WOOSTER—(AP)—Joseph Singell, 57, was under indeterminate sentence to Ohio penitentiary today for shooting to kill his wife, Myrtle, following their alimony hearing here. He pleaded guilty.

Union School District to Vote On $87,000 Issue Second Time

The Union rural board of education in Weller and Franklin townships today had been authorized by the state tax commission to resubmit a proposed $75,900 bond issue at the Nov. 8 election.

The proposal, which would provide funds for the construction of a new $138,000 centralized school, was defeated by 23 votes at a special election Sept. 20, the same day the board received federal approval on a $62,100 PWA grant.

V. B. Moffett, superintendent of the Union schools, said today that the district had not received an official order from PWA officials to go ahead with the election, but indications were that the PWA funds would still be available if the bond issue passes.

The state department of education recommended that the board retain the same building plan as the one most suitable for the district, Moffett said.

The program calls for construction of a building near the center of the two-township district to accommodate all the high school pupils and over half of the elementary pupils. The present high school would be remodeled and used for an elementary school, and all one and two-room schools in the district would be closed.

At the special election, voters in Weller township defeated the bond proposal by failing to give it the necessary 65 per cent majority.

Pitfalls Avoided By Tolerance

One of a Series.
By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

What Makes Marriage Successful?

When it comes to marriage, a good many of us have a spice of intolerance hidden in our make-up. The light has been vouchsafed to us on a good many things. Isn't it our duty to share with friend husband or wife a spot of light, too?

The wise realize that a refusal to tolerate another's point of view—even if the other is a husband or wife—often means shipwreck of the matrimonial craft.

Religious beliefs head the list of the tragedies of intolerance. Knowledge of the only true theosophy has been reserved for these intolerant folk alone, they believe. The doctrine of "live and let live" makes no hit with them. The most bitter wars fought have been "holy wars." How the God of Love must sorrow over his children.

Nationality comes next on the list in bringing intolerance to the battlefield. Letters have come to this column since it was inaugurated, expressing contempt for people who are "foreigners." The writers forget they are equally foreign to the people they despise.

Parents object to sons and daughters marrying beyond the geographical boundaries from which they hail. The persons to whom these parents object so bitterly may come from countries which have achieved immortality in science and the arts. But they are "foreigners."

The objects of this derision are apt to regard the objectors as one cut above jungle pygmies "They have no background," the foreigner reflects complacently.

Politics—but you've only to read the casualties, after a big election day to know what a difference of opinion can do to the minds and imaginations of people, concerning that which is apt to be a case of Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum.

Culture fares hardly better with the intolerant. Belligerent modernists, who like their literature hot and peppery, shudder at the thought of Dickens and Thackeray. The devotee of jazz, ragtime and swing consider Beethoven "an old bloke." They prefer the portrait of an angular cross-eyed lady to the beauties of Gainsborough and Lawrence.

If only these hardy souls wouldn't try to show us the error of our ways. We'd be so glad to be left to our depraved tastes in art, literature and music. We're willing to let them sing the praises of what seems to us disjointed. Why can't they be equally tolerant? But they must proselyte; tell us how hopeless is our taste for preferring the Meistersinger when we might have the cacophonies of swing.

The writer recently attended a luncheon given to Jacqueline Cochran, who won the Bendix trophy. Besides being a record-breaking flier, she runs a cosmetic laboratory in New Jersey and has a chain of beauty parlors. The ladies at the luncheon seemed more interested in cosmetics than they did in her great cross country flight.

What color fingernail polish did she prefer asked attractive young things whose nails suggested the slaughter of oxen in an abbatoir. Miss Cochran announced she didn't use fingernail dye of any shade. After a few "whys" the amazed horror was reflected on nearly every face. Tolerance?

The dress is of black crepe with a molded bodice and flared inset center front. The yoke is of black tulle with three little folds, like shoulder straps, over the shoulder. The tiny neckband ties in a small bow center front. With it is worn a white grosgrain hat with white veil, and white suede gloves.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

MY PREDICTION was correct. Mr. Milner, the suave, poised manager of the Lansfield, was the man at the door, and although his appearance was as impeccable as ever, I knew that beneath his poise he was intensely annoyed at having his rest disturbed, for I was sure that the night clerk had summoned him from bed at my ultimatum.

"I have just come in," he said—mendaciously, I was certain—"and was told that you wished to see me."

"Yes, very much," I retorted, unsmiling. "Mrs. Veritzen's young brothers have come up to the city for this one day before going back to school, and I should like to have them on the same floor with us."

Rebels at Fiat.

I hardly knew myself why I was so persistent upon this point.

"I am extremely sorry," he said, "but that is impossible tonight. The rooms are not made up. Indeed, they are not even lighted, for we have been repairing the lights on the entire floor except in your suite and Miss Whitlock's room. And surely they will be just as comfortable in the room just below here as they could possibly be on this floor. And they are virtually as near to you."

I wondered if one reason for his abstinacy might be a psychic intuition that no matter what his decision, none of us would leave the shelter of the hotel tonight, the threat which had conquered him when a room for Miss Whitlock was in question. But my wonder did not prevent me from making obeisance to the inevitably with as much grace as I could summon from my ego.

Has Her Reasons.

"I have my own reasons for wishing them as near as possible," I said a bit stiffly, "but, of course, the reasons you advance for not giving us a room on this floor are incontrovertible. So, we must be content."

"I am glad you understand my position," he answered smoothly. "Now, is there anything I can do for you or your guests?"

"Not a thing, thank you," I told him promptly, and he bowed himself away.

"Did he say they had been monkeying with the lights on this floor?" Mary asked when Mr. Milner had gone out, and I had replaced the night chain on the door I had determined long before not to be without the protection of that chain for a single minute.

"Except in Miss Whitlock's room and this suite," I answered.

Mary Suspicious.

"That's all hooey, and that suave Ananias knows it," Mary returned crisply. "I never saw or heard of electricians yet that didn't make some noise, and there hasn't been a mouse peep from any other room since we've been here. And they surely don't feed and sleep the workmen here. They must go in and out, and the halls are always absolutely deserted."

"What is all this?" Bill demanded, and Mary shot a quick, appealing glance at me. I summoned a nonchalant aid and a quick, plausible explanation, for I wanted the suspicions of the boys aroused as little as she did.

"He doesn't want to rouse the housekeeper and have her prepare the room," I said. "I think that is all, and he simply is making it stronger by talking about the lights. However, it really isn't worth fussing about."

"Right you are," Mary agreed heartily, but I said to myself that the night was not over yet, and that before daylight I meant to do some quiet investigating on my own account.

She has the gay remark to offer. She is good-natured, friendly, easy of manner, nice to talk with, walk with, do nothing at all with. The men flock around her because she's true blue, has no affectations, is a good fellow. Her kind of charm never wears out. It will flourish in old age and she is always beloved

A pleasing voice has captured many a masculine heart, held it for a lifetime. Anyone can learn to speak softly, beautifullly. Voices are unpleasant because they are not registered properly or are used with too much volume. One musn't overlook the value of clear enunciation and neat inflections.

Beautiful hands have a compelling loveliness. Beautiful carriage plays its part because it bespeaks health and courageous spirit. No brave woman drags around with shoulders forward, back humped, chest thrown inward. Poor posture is the pose of laziness or it is an expression of self pity. Nobody can endure the sight of it. It is the commonest beauty defect of this day when sensible dress gives the body perfect freedom of movement.

A mannerly pose of the head gives a woman distinction. It will do more to make a woman a treat to the eye than a new Paris model, cherry finger nails or the family jewels. A good head pose means that one isn't afraid, one faces duties and responsibilities, life is zestful.

A pretty back has charm. But how many women know whether or not they have backs? They never look at them.

Then there are qualities of character—friendliness, sympathy, understanding, tolerance. They count more than anything else

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

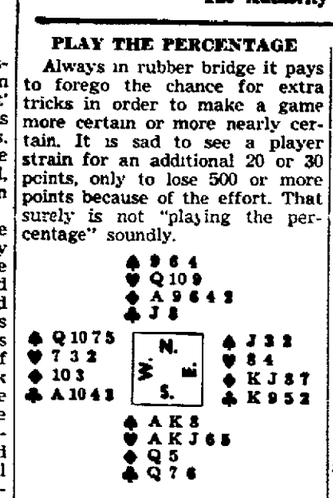
"The Authority on Authorities"

PLAY THE PERCENTAGE

Always in rubber bridge it pays to forego the chance for extra tricks in order to make a game more certain or more nearly certain. It is sad to see a player strain for an additional 20 or 30 points, only to lose 500 or more points because of the effort. That surely is not "playing the percentage" soundly.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

North and South reached a contract of 4-Hearts on this deal, South having started with 1-Heart, North following with 2-Diamonds, South 3-Hearts and North 4-Hearts.

When the spade 5 was led, declarer realized that he had four losers, two in clubs, one in diamonds and one in spades. His best prospect seemed to be to try to establish diamonds to take care of one of his losers. He won the first lead with the spade K and led the heart 5 to the 9. His next play was a low diamond toward his Q. East won with the K and returned a spade to South's A. Next he cashed the diamond Q and led the heart 6 to dummy's 10. He then ruffled a diamond instead of counting on the suit breaking 3-3. His next play was a heart to the Q, followed by the A and 9 of diamonds, on which he discarded two clubs. He then gave up a spade and a club, which with the diamond K made exactly three losers

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, October 6.

A DAY OF RATHER "mixed influences", in astrological parlance, is read from a peculiar chain of planetary aspects These are of changeable and variable nature, and may incite a variety of experiences and events, fluctuating from adverse to fortuitous. There are signs of important contracts or business transactions, which should be both lucrative and generous At the same time there is danger of expansion, extravagance and a tendency to "plunge." There also may be some enmity and jealousy With care there should be much success and progress

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a successful and progressive year, although there may be fluctuations, the usual ups and downs, to cope with, mainly by shrewd conservation of funds and wise expenditures These may cause enmity and jealousy, resulting in eventual loss or shrinkage in assets.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, progressive and ambitious. It may have generous impulses and much kindliness, despite which it may incite enmities and jealousies.

Oysters High In Necessary Elements

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

"SINCE oysters are harvested from the boundless deep, they are constantly bathed by the universal solvent which supplies every element that is required for the growth of a living organism. It has been estimated that one pound of oysters will furnish approximately 35 per cent of the calcium, 53 per cent of the phosphorous and 12 per cent of the iron required in the food of an average person daily." This quotation from a report of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries serves as our introduction to the oyster season and the first batch of recipes.

Oyster pie is the pet recipe of the Long Island oyster growers. Take a pint of oysters. Line a baking dish with a paste and put in it the oysters together with a small lump of butter and a teaspoon of finely-chopped bacon. Season with salt and pepper, top with a crust and bake 45 minutes.

Oyster Paddies.

Oyster paddies are made with mashed potatoes. Take a pint of mashed potatoes, add a beaten egg and a little minced onion, and shape into cakes. Split cakes with a sharp knife, lay two or three oysters on the lower part, and replace top Bake in moderately hot oven until paddies are brown, then garnish with parsley.

To make a nice batch of soup, take a quart of oysters. Put in a saucepan a quart of milk, a pint of water, salt, pepper and mace, and a tablespoon of butter. When mixture comes to a boil, add oysters and let simmer five minutes.

Oyster rarebit makes a nice supper snack. One of our famous authors always serves this dish after theater parties. His recipe calls for a cup of oysters, parboiled, also two tablespoons butter, half pound soft, mild cheese cut in pieces, half cup thin cream, one-quarter teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne, two slightly beaten eggs, Melt butter, add cheese and seasonings. As soon as cheese melts, add cream gradually and eggs. As soon as mixture is smooth, add soft part of oysters.

Dinner dresses are gaining renewed prominence with the coming of autumn.

CHARGES IDEAL REJECTED UNION PEACE EFFORTS

Electrical Workers' President on Stand as Labor Board Hearing Continues.

Testimony that officials of the Ideal Electric and Manufacturing company, Mansfield, "refused to consider settlement" of labor differences between the company and Local 705, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, was heard this morning as the National Labor Relations board continued its hearing of charges of unfair labor practices against the Mansfield firm.

Albert Beller, member of the local union's relations committee, was on the witness stand most of the morning. Most of his testimony concerned alleged unsuccessful attempts of the union committee to effect amicable settlement of disputes over union organization activities and the dismissal of two union members at the plant, which union officials said was the result of their activities in behalf of the union.

CIO Files Charges.

In the charges filed with the NLRB by Local 705, a CIO affiliate, the Ideal Electric company was accused of "restraining and coercing employes."

The charges involve Oscar B. Killinger and Roy A. Conn, who were laid off at the Ideal plant last winter. Union officials said organization activities were responsible for discrimination against the two workers. Killinger was reinstated about a month later. Company officials said slack business conditions caused temporary dismissal of the two employes.

More than a score of witnesses are expected to be examined by attorneys for the Mansfield firm and labor board during the hearing. Evidence heard at the trial will be sent to the NLRB at Washington for consideration.

Atty. Max W. Johnstone, Cleveland, is counsel for the labor board. Webster Powell is the presiding examiner at the trial.

The meeting last night was in charge of Miss Mable Lynch of Shelby, president of the Richland county council. The council is the youth group of the Richland County Council of Religious Education.

USES DYNAMITE IN TIRE TEST

Demonstration to Show What Takes Place After Blowout.

Most motorists never have to encourage a tire to blow out, but dynamite will be used to deflate automobile tires at a safety demonstration at 4:15 p. m. Thursday on Millsboro road at Marion avenue.

The show will enable motorists to see just what happens when a tire blows out—how one corner of the car drops down and the machine careens in the highway.

Then a tire equipped with Goodyear LifeGuard inner tubes will be put through the test. The demonstration, sponsored by the Buchan Auto Supply company, will first show an ordinary tire blowout on a car traveling slowly. Then a tire equipped with a LifeGuard tube will be blown out at high speed.

which in turn would result in price differentials. This would have all the evils of a dual monetary system.

3. The plan places a severe tax burden on the holders of the warrants since they must buy the tax stamps to maintain the value of the warrant.

4. The plan could not be made to work permanently and any plan to force acceptance of the warrants as legal tender could be defeated on unconstitutional grounds.

5. Banks subject to federal supervision would not be permitted to handle the warrants as cash items.

Currently, there are more than 200 banks in California that come under the jurisdiction of the federal government. There are 103 national banks, watched over by the comptroller of the currency. There are 204 banks, including the nationals, that are members of the federal deposit insurance corporation. In addition, 15 state banks are members of the federal reserve system and thus accountable to the governing board of that organization.

Britton's 'Batty' Band Appears at Madison Saturday

Milt Britton and his Batty Band, which has been playing at Billy Rose's Casa Manana in New York City, will come to Mansfield for a one-day engagement Saturday, bringing his entire crew of musicians and entertainers to the Madison theater.

Britton is on his way to Hollywood where later in the fall he and his band will appear in a picture that stars Eleanor Powell.

This group will be remembered for their screen work with Rudy Vallee in "Sweet Music", and are distinguished for their rough comedy. Britton is known as the world's champion "fiddle buster", having 'broken" 60,000 violins over heads and scenery. In "Sweet Music" the band broke up a radio station movie set which had cost $5,000 to build, but it was all a part of the scenario.

Despite their crazy antics, however, the band is listed among the better swing organization of the country. Sybil Kaye is vocalist with the band this season.

It will be presented at the Madison along with the regular picture program.

Father Jails Daughter Who Aided Escape of 2 Felons

FREED GUNMEN KILL AUTOIST DURING FLIGHT

Stage Series of Holdups After Jailer's Daughter Hands Them Keys to Cells.

(By United Press)

LEXINGTON, N. C.—Lula Belle, jailer's daughter who fell in love with a handsome felon, cried her heart out in jail today, vowing that her first experience with men would be her last one.

Her father locked her up himself and then, in "deep humiliation," resigned his job. Lula Belle, in charge of the jail while he was away, had freed her boy friend and another felon who repaid her faith in them by murdering one man, kidnaping another, and staging a series of holdups.

Posse Circles Woods.

Today, a posse was deployed around a woods near here where they believed James Godwin, 19, and Bill Wilson, 21, were hiding. If and when caught they will join her in jail, on a charge of murder. Lula Belle was charged with "aiding and abetting" their escape.

Lula Belle is 22 years old, weighs 175 pounds, and is so husky that her father, proud of her before love made water of her muscles, was accustomed to boast that she handled "women prisoners like sacks of potatoes." Her powerful physique did not encourage suitors and she had never experienced the masculine influence until a month ago when Godwin, Wilson, and Wilson's brother were locked up on charges of banditry.

Jailer T. C. Kimmel though Lula Belle merely was exhibiting her inate kindness of heart when he noticed her carrying cigarets and candy back to Godwin. These excursions provided opportunity for Godwin to pour out the story of his life, to tell her, amid tears, how he had been misunderstood and persecuted and forced by circumstances into the ways of a felon.

Faced Gas Death.

Lula Belle couldn't bear the thought of "such a nice young man" dying in the lethal chamber, North Carolina's method of executing condemned felons.

Monday afternoon her father left her in charge of the jail.

After Lula Belle gave Godwin the key to his cell, he freed his pal Wilson. They stole a pistol from Jailer Kimmel's living quarters, stole a taxi-cab, escaped. Yesterday they killed Donald Moss, a textile worker, who was slow in obeying their command to turn over his car.

Lula Belle was disillusioned when informed of Jimmy's refusal to immediately reform. But she was broken-hearted when informed that he had a wife and was the father of a baby. Some of the letters she had so unsuspectingly carried back to his cell, had been from his wife.

Boy With Month to Live Cheered by Visit by Cub Stars

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—John Edward English, 14, is a Cubs' fan.

For a month he had cheered their drive down the home stretch, seen them win the National league pennant, prayed that they will defeat the New York Yankees in the world series. During that month he has fought against neuroma, a fast spreading form of cancer that follows along the nerves.

Dr. David G. Berens had given him only a 1,000 to one chance to live. Yesterday he would give him only another month at most. That was before the boy awoke and found two of his heroes, Bill Jurges, Cubs' shortstop, and Rip Collins, Cubs' first baseman, standing besides his bed.

"We heard you were sick and couldn't get to any of the games," Jurges grinned.

"And we brought you these," Collins said, holding out two baseballs.

John took them. On one were the autographs of all the Cub players, on the other, the autographs of all the Yankee players.

"Gee...thanks," he said.

"We've prayed for a miracle," John's mother said. "Maybe this is the beginning. He seems better already."

Holds Labor, Industry Have Key to Upswing

Up and Down THE STREET

That Louis Bromfield, native son of Mansfield who has won recognition as one of the greatest of contemporary fiction writers, still loves his native state and likes to hear from its people was evidenced in a letter which the writer sent to Mrs. Oliver Kuhn, New Baltimore. Mrs. Kuhn recently visited Mansfield to take pictures of Bromfield's birthplace on West Third street, "The Farm" on West Fourth street road and the Dr. Jones home which is popularly credited with being the locale of his first novel, "Green Bay Tree." Historical points and landmarks of Ohio are Mrs. Kuhn's hobby. She sent copies of the snapshots to Bromfield and he wrote her from his chateau near Senlis, France: "Ohio is very close to my heart and I am particularly interested in hearing from Ohio people."

Three of Mansfield's most rabid baseball fans headed for Chicago last night armed with a double set of tickets for today's World series game after they thought they wouldn't be able to get any. Charles Nichols, George Satterlee and Henry Brinkman planned to take in the game but at 11 a. m. yesterday learned by wire that there were no tickets available in Chicago. A half hour later Satterlee located four in the possession of a man who couldn't go. Before he had time to contact the others Brinkman found two more and purchased them. So when the trio got together last night for the trip they had six, instead of three tickets.

Rev. J. H. Culler, who has preached in the Lutheran churches of Mansfield on many occasions, and who is the oldest Wittenberg college alumnus living, celebrated his 92nd birthday today at his home in Springfield. Born near Lucas, the aged churchman has a number of relatives in that vicinity and visits there frequently. He is six years older that Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and is one of the oldest men to wear its shield.

When it comes to bookmarks, Mansfielders are not particular about what they use to indicate where they quit reading in a story. A collection of "marks" on display at the public library includes a variety of articles ranging from the innersole of a shoe to a copy of a radio speech by Mrs. Myrna Smith, Gov. Davey's secretary. Other objects include match covers, personal letters, a bottle cap, snapshots, nail files, and strands of yarn.

TRAGEDY STALKS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mother Bakes Cake, Stove Explodes; She Rescues Two.

PORTSMOUTH — (AP) — Happy preparations for a child's birthday party turned to tragic heroism today.

Hastening to bake a cake for her son, Franklin, 4, Mrs. Muriel Castor poured kerosene into the kitchen stove. An explosion showered the burning oil on her, the son, her daughter, Juanita, 7, and Mrs. Castor's sister, Mrs. Forrest Hudson.

Her clothing aflame, Mrs. Castor carried her son to safety, returned and dragged her unconscious daughter from the house. The home was destroyed.

Doctors said Mrs. Castor, 27, and Juanita probably would die.

'SLIP' SENDS HIM BACK TO PRISON

Clevelander, Fugitive 7 Years, Cashed Forged Check, Jailed.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Harry Owens, 37, who lived here as a plumber for seven years faced return to the Colorado state prison today to finish serving a 10-25 year sentence for robbery.

Police arrested Owens on a charge of forging and cashing a $6 check. A routine check of fingerprints showed a $50 reward was on his head for escape from the Colorado prison.

"I went straight for seven years", police quoted him," and then I slipped."

Liberty Park swimming pool in its first complete year showed an operating loss of $200, a financial report submitted to city council last night by Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist showed.

OHIO DEMS AND G. O. P. PROMISE U. S., STATE GOVERNMENT REFORM

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Pledges of reforms in state and national governments were held out today by leading political candidates in Ohio as the November election campaign pace quickened.

Speaking at opposite ends of the state, John W. Bricker and Charles Sawyer, Republican and Democratic gubernatorial aspirants, respectively, both promised if elected to effect highway department and other remedial changes.

Bricker, speaking at Lorain, also advocated more efficient functioning of the state utilities commission. "No case should take more than a year to complete," he said of the commission's work.

Sawyer, addressing a hometown audience in Cincinnati, included an appeal for support from "Independent Republicans." He asserted that "we must divorce ourselves from the idea of rigid allegiance to party and support the right kind of men running on the right kind of platform."

At Van Wert, Robert A. Taft, Republican seeking to unseat Sen. Robert J. Bulkley, New Deal follower, urged a return of "sound government" through reductions in federal spending and regulation of business.

Flaying New Deal policies, Taft asserted that relaxation of federal interference in business would reduce unemployment by creating more jobs. He also urged that federal grants for poor relief be handled by states receiving them.

Taft and Bulkley will open a series of joint political debates in Marietta Saturday. The first joust will be on the subject, "New Deal planned economy is a failure and offers no solution for unemployment and depression." It was selected by Taft. Each contestant selects the subject of the three debates he will open.

Approximately 800 Republican women campaign workers concluding a Columbus gathering yesterday cheered predictions of victory next month for party standard bearers made by Mrs. Bricker and Mrs. Taft. Party leaders and candates also spoke.

END BITTERNESS AND COOPERATE, ROOSEVELT AIM

White House Sources Claim Business Pick-up More Than Seasonal.

(By Associated Press)

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—President Roosevelt hopes that labor and industry will get together to bring about an upswing in the nation's business.

This report was given today by persons close to the White House who said Mr. Roosevelt believes that, if name-calling and bitterness is ended, the country may look forward to general economic improvement.

It was said that present economic conditions are not nearly as gloomy as they have been painted in some reports, that employment is picking up more than seasonally and that the nation may anticipate improved business during the remainder of this year provided prices are kept within a proper range.

Calls for Price Control.

Government policy, friends of Mr. Roosevelt said, calls for keeping prices of some commodities from going through the roof and for bolstering quotations on commodities which now are underpriced.

Copper was cited as an example of a commodity whose price should not go too high and wheat and cotton were listed as products for which current prices should be raised.

White House authorities said the recent European crisis has had its parallel in the nation's industrial and economic problems. They asserted that while Europe was engaged in saber-rattling and army mobilization, some people in this country were misrepresenting the government's policy, making dire forecasts of the future and building bogey-men to frighten the people.

These informants added the opinion that if various factions could sit in friendly conference, peace might be effected between industry and labor and between these two and the government.

As a hopeful sign in the economic picture, it was said that the administration's pump-priming program would not reach its peak results until next spring.

MAKES APPEAL

Ashbrook Urges Board Not to Hold Up Ohio Pensions.

Congressman William A. Ashbrook, Johnstown, today had appealed to Arthur J. Altmeyer, of the National Social Security board at Washington, in an effort to prevent Ohio's old age pensions from being held up as a result of the controversy between the state and federal governments.

"Everybody in Ohio is very much disturbed over the controversy relative to old age pensions, and a number of old folks are passing sleepless nights fearing their pension will be cut off," Ashbrook said.

"If there is anything wrong in Ohio, these old folks should not have to pay the penalty. I earnestly entreat you to find a way whereby their pensions will continue," he added.

Ashbrook represents the 17th district, which includes Richland county.

TOSCANINI ON WAY TO AMERICA

Eccentric Maestro Won't Comment On 'Mistreatment' in Italy.

PARIS—(INS)—His face smeared with lip-stick by a wifely parting kiss, Arturo Toscanini, world-renowned orchestra conductor, departed for the United States today to fill various concert and radio engagements.

When the eccentric maestro arrived in Paris from Milan, Italy, he denied that his passport had been confiscated by Italian authorities or that he had been the victim of a Fascist youth attack. After spending an hour in the French capital he caught the French liner Normandie. His first engagement in the United States will be a radio appearance Oct. 16.

While in Paris, the maestro smilingly shook his head to all questions regarding rumors that he had been "mistreated" in Italy.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Real Versailles Tragedy Was That Germany Did Not Suffer for Brutalities

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—It seems to be generally agreed by now that the Versailles treaty was a great tragedy, but recent history gives reason to regret the lenience rather than the severity of the terms.

After all, the Germans got out of the war without the destruction of a stick or stone in their own country. There has been no mass deportations of their people, no wanton murder of the mayors of their villages or other hostages in reprisal for natural acts of patriotic resistance against invasion, no mass burglary of their homes or systematic destruction of their factories.

This was the experience of Belgium and northern France at the hands of the Germans, but as soon as the fighting was over, the Allies found they lacked the brutality to pay the Germans in their own coin.

* * *

It would have done the world and civilization no good to destroy two German villages for every Belgian or French village leveled in the war or to execute by firing squad two German mayors for every hostage killed by the kaiser's armies.

But the Versailles treaty has done the world no good, and it is childish to argue or hope that the world would have been any better off today if the conditions of Versailles, which since then have been condemned as vindictive, had been omitted.

* * *

The error of Versailles was that Germany was allowed to escape all feeling of the damage that was inflicted on the invaded countries.

The Allies attempted to collect lawful damages from a slippery defendant who first tried to argue that it had not been his fault and then went into bankruptcy to avoid payment.

* * *

But, aside from material considerations, Germany never was made to feel war. If the conquerors had carried out deliberately and laboriously on the German countryside the same wanton destruction that the Germans inflicted, if they had gone through the German factories looting and smashing, if they had pillaged German homes and all the personal possessions that make a home and shipped the stuff to Belgium and France and then had blown up those factories, and homes before the eyes of the people, the lesson would have been more impressive.

It is unfair to hold against the French politicians and people of the post-war period the charge of stupid vindictiveness. Any people who had suffered so would have wanted revenge, and history has now shown that it was a mistake to forego revenge.

* * *

Twenty years later Germany revives more shockingly brutal than ever before and inflicts upon the Czechs the same conditions the Allies forebore to impose on Germany. Remembering what his own country did to the French territory, Hitler took precautions to prevent the Czechs from doing the same in the Sudeten country as they withdrew.

It is a tragedy that they could not blow up all the military works, demolish all houses, factories and shops and shoot numerous selected leaders of the German sedition, not for any good this might have done them or for any service to right and justice but merely to hamper Hitler and impress upon the Nazis the horrors of war.

Germany came out of the big war with nothing worse than some hunger and humiliation, and now that the Treaty of Versailles has been completely unwritten the upshot of that great war is that the victors gave the party and suffered all the damage. Germany never will learn to hate war until a war is fought on German soil.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Short-short story:

This dialogue comes from the American version of "Dawn Patrol," an anti-war war picture. . . .

Courtney (Errol Flynn): "And that comparison goes for the whole war, Donny—a big, noisy, rather silly game. Here we are—going at it hammer and tongs—and we don't really know why—or what it's all about. . . . And I'll bet you our friends over there—the enemy—feel exactly the same way. . . .

"Some day it will end—just as suddenly as it started—and we'll all go home . . . until some other bunch of monkeys sitting around a long table pushes us into another war. . . ."

And this dialogue comes from the for-British-consumption version of the same scene:

Courtney (Errol Flynn): "And that comparison goes for the whole war, Donny—a big, noisy game—but if it hadn't been for the war we wouldn't have had this flying corps coming along as it is. All of us here are pioneers—but it's growing up, my boy. Our equipment's improving every day and we've the feeling they're behind us back home. . . . It makes us proud, doesn't it? . . . All through the centuries the instant old Britain's in any kind of trouble, every kid—every lad—is up and at 'em just like you—ready to give 'em—give—to give it to them. . . ."

That's all. But will Flynn consent to the necessary war-glorifying in the British version? He's been obdurate thus far.

* * *

A little moth disrupted shooting on the "Sweethearts" set the other day—for three takes—and incidentally revealed that the old African lion-hunter and adventurer, W. S. Van Dyke, is a-skeered of moths. It's a phobia of his—and another is high places.

"Blackwell's Island"—begun as just another movie—is being built up (under Mike Curtiz's direction) into something bigger—because John Garfield's part in it wasn't enough after "Four Daughters."

The new crime wave—in the movies—has overreached itself. . . . Crime School, Crime Is a Racket, They Made Me a Criminal, Crime and Crime and Crime (usually with the Dead End-Crime School Kids) . . . And Jackie Cooper celebrated his 16th birthday as a "Gangster's Boy!"

* * *

HOLLYWOOD'S going to be on ice in a big way this winter. Sonja Henie, of course, and Irene Dare, the child skater, and now "The Ice Follies," with the cast of that touring attraction of the same name . . . The Trocadero puts in a floor show on ice.

Some talk of Harold Lloyd's remaking his silent hits ("Grandma's Boy," "The Freshman," "Speedy," etc.) with a young comedian playing the roles—and that brings up Eddie Quillan, the boy Lloyd had in mind for that same purpose several years ago.

"Dramatic School" is Luise Rainer's first non-costume picture since "Big City." . . . In it the sideliners are witnessing a close match between Rainer and Paulette Goddard for scene-stealing honors. . . . Goddard has some loud dialogue but Rainer, keen to the goings-on, is stealthily underplaying, making her the favorite in the betting.

Witnesses to Tracy's feat were Dr. Charles Shaffer, W. B. Osborne and D. T. Smith.

Work on Defense For East

Game Saturday Next to Last on Mansfield High Team's Home Schedule.

A TEAM that has lost three ball games in a row will provide the opposition for the Mansfield high pigskin chasers at Stadium field Saturday afternoon.

But it is a team that is coming along rather speedily, and it might offer the Tygers some trouble, although it may not be able to whip Coach Russ Murphy's men.

East No Stranger.

The team is Columbus East, which has held spots on the Mansfield schedule in various sports off and on for many years.

The Tigers from Columbus dropped their first game of the year to Middletown, 33 to 0, but showed improvement the next week when they held Coshocton, losing only 6 to 0, and then on an intercepted pass.

Coach Ralph Webster's men bowed to Columbus North, 30 to 12, last week.

How well they will fare at Stadium field Saturday remains to be seen, but they've got a job ahead of them. The Mansfield boys have also come along fine after the Massillon game, and they appear sure of making it tough for their foes the rest of the way.

Incidentally, the tussle Saturday is the semi-final on the Mansfield home schedule. Outside of the Akron Kenmore game, the Tygers will make all of their other appearances on foreign soil.

Brushes Up Attack.

Coach Murphy continued to stress the Mansfield running game in workouts this week. He also is spending a lot of time attempting to strengthen the defensive play of the tackles and ends. The Mansfield kicking is also coming in for its share of attention.

Barred From Announcing, Grimm Passes Up Series.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Charley Grimm, deposed manager of the Chicago Cubs late in July, is passing up the 1938 World series opener. The former Cub leader, now a radio sports announcer, said on his arrival from St. Louis yesterday he didn't plan to watch the Cubs and Yankees. "I just can't enjoy any game where I don't have anything to do," he said.

Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis barred Grimm from broadcasting the series on the ground he might be partial to his former mates. Grimm declared he was "not sore" because the Cubs failed to vote him a share of the series spoils.

Signs Minor Pilot

Philadelphia Club Replaces Wilson With Protho From Little Rock.

CHICAGO — (AP) — A dentist turned baseball manager will try to drill the lowly Phillies into pennant contenders during the next two years.

He is Dr. James Thompson (Doc) Prothro of Memphis. He was signed to a two-year contract yesterday by Gerald Nugent, president of the Philadelphia National league club.

Prothro, former manager of Little Rock of the Southern association, succeeds Jimmy Wilson who resigned last Saturday after being at the Phillies' helm since 1934 when he replaced Burt Shotton.

Prothro practiced dentistry in 1921 and 1922 after a trial in the majors with the Washington Senators, then returned to baseball and has been associated with it ever since. The last nine years were spent in the role of manager, all in the Southern association, five years with Memphis and the last four with Little Rock. He won one championship at the helm of each club.

His first full season in the majors came with the Boston Red Sox in 1925 after being traded by Washington. He played third base and batted .319 for the year. The salary stipulated in his contract was not revealed.

Phillies Obtain Prize Infielder.

CHICAGO — (AP) — The "new deal" that Philadelphia's futile Phillies hope to swing under their new manager, Dr. James T. (Doc) Prothro, was off to a fine start today with the acquisition of Merrill May, Newark third baseman and generally regarded as the "prize" of the big league draft meeting

Roy Parmalee

May has been one of the standouts of the "wonder team" of Newark Bears that has mowed down the rest of the International league for the past two seasons. Since the Cubs bought Jimmy Gleeson from the Bears some weeks ago, May has been the most talked of player, from a big league standpoint, in the International loop.

Altogether, 17 players were drafted from the minors by 10 of the 16 big league clubs. Only the pennant winners—the Cubs and New York Yankees—the Boston Bees, New York Giants, Cincinnati Reds and Cleveland Indians "passed" on every deal at the meeting.

Two well-liked veterans of the big leagues were brought back when the Washington Senators selected gallant Charley Gelbert, ex-St. Louis Cardinal infielder, from Toledo, and the Philadelphia Athletics picked Roy (Tarzan) Parmelee, former New York Giants, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals pitcher, from Minneapolis

Parmelee was one of five picked by Connie Mack for the A's. The others were pitcher Bill Beckman, who won 20 games for Atlanta, Henry Pippen, 17-game winner for Sacramento of the Pacific Coast league; Joe Gantenbein, Toronto third-sacker, and Bill Nagel, infielder and outfielder from Baltimore.

Others selected were: By Phillies—Legrant Scott, Indianapolis outfielder. By Brooklyn — Hugh Casey, Memphis pitcher, and Russ Evans, Jersey City hurler. By St. Louis Cardinals—Jimmy Outlaw, Syracuse third baseman. By Pittsburgh—Fern Bell, Louisville outfielder, and Jack Jeulich, Rochester third baseman. By St. Louis Browns—Hal Spindell, Seattle catcher. By Chicago White Sox—Art Herring, St. Paul pitcher. By Detroit Tigers—James Lynn, Columbus pitcher. Boston Red Sox — Wayman Kersieck, Little Rock pitcher.

Major Leagues Attract 10,267,891 to Parks.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Add together that exciting National league pennant race, the Yankees' slow start in the American league, the unusual interest aroused by such individual feats as Johnny Vander Meer's two no-hit pitching performances and Hank Greenberg's threat to break the home run record and you arrive at the fact that major league baseball attracted more fans during the 1938 season than ever before.

An Associated Press survey today disclosed that the season's paid attendance for the two big leagues was 10,267,891. The two championship clubs, the Yankees and Cubs, both went over the million mark in home-game attendance and the two leagues proved about equal in drawing power, the American holding the edge, 5,225,455 to 5,042,436.

Notre Dame's Mystery Club Title Threat

Irish-Gopher Game May Decide National Crown.

By ERNEST BARCELLA

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — Minnesota's mighty Gophers loomed today as the best bet in mid-western football, but don't sell Notre Dame's "mystery" team short.

It has been conceded months ago that Minnesota, with crushing power to spare, would be a standout, sectionally as well as nationally. Notre Dame was figured to be good, but when the Fighting Irish pulverized Kansas, 52-0, Saturday, the experts gaped.

Irish Have It.

The right side of Notre Dame's line, with only one veteran, was supposed to be an unknown quantity. But there was no mystery about that side of the line or the team in general Saturday. They had it!

It may well be that midwestern football supremacy will be decided Nov. 12 when Notre Dame and Minnesota collide at South Bend.

Minnesota appears to be in a class by itself in the Big Ten, but a quirk in the Big Ten schedule may force it to share conference honors with Ohio State. The teams do not meet this year.

Minnesota, with victories over the Washington university Huskies and Nebraska, engages its first Big Ten opponent Saturday—Purdue, which holds victories over Detroit and Butler.

Ohio State opened its conference schedule Saturday by edging Indiana, 6-0. Observers, however, saw a rocky road ahead for the Buckeyes after watching them pushed around by Bo McMillin's "pre little boys." Ohio State betrayed glaring faults in its line play, while Indiana, with a preponderance of sophomores, unveiled a potent offense and a sturdy defense.

Ohio runs up against Southern California Saturday, while Indiana takes on its second conference foe—Illinois. The Illini came back Saturday to swamp De Paul 44-6 after being upset by little Ohio university.

Wildcats Improved.

One of the most improved teams in the Big Ten is Northwestern. The Wildcats, who meet Drake Saturday, may play a deciding role in determining the conference title as they play each of the co-favorites — Minnesota and Ohio State.

Another vastly improved team is Michigan which, under its new coach, Fritz Crisler, beat Michigan State 14-0 Saturday.

'MIKE' VOTED SHARE

DETROIT—(INS)—Deposed Detroit Tiger Manager Micky Cochrane today was among those voted full shares of the ball club's fourth place share of the world series money.

2,000 Stand in Line All Night to Get Seats.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—More than 2,000 fans stood in line throughout the night at Wrigley field box offices, waiting for 8,000 bleacher seats to be placed on sale at 9 a. m.

The field's seating capacity was increased from 37,500 to 40,700 for the series. If standing room is exhausted the attendance will be approximately 43,000.

DEFIANCE —(INS)— Instead of having an open date this Saturday night, Defiance college's football team will play Alfred Holbrook here, it was announced today.

Undefeated Whippets Stir Up New Grid Interest in Shelby

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

NEW football interest has been created by Coach Bill Query's men of the grid in Shelby this fall. A lively little sports city, Shelby, denied a winner for several years, is undefeated up to now, and Bordertown folks are really whoopin' it up for the team that appears destined to battle it out with Galion for the N C O crown. Saturday's game at Ashland is expected to give the experts a better line on Shelby, which boasts of a perfect defensive record

* * * *

Enthusiasm is also running high in the Madison territory, where Coach Al Fendrick's team is the chief topic of discussion. The Rams have scored 155 points in their three victories That's a big total in any league, and, over in Mt Vernon, where the Rams operate Friday night, the Jackets' followers are not quite as confident as you might suspect. Mt. Vernon is a Class A school, with double the enrollment of Madison, but the township institution boasts a pretty fair bunch of football players. They still pay-off on the gridiron, not on enrollment.

* * *

Galion's gridmen don't have to take a back seat to any of the territory teams. They've got what it takes to win again this year. The same can be said about Bellville, which stacks up as the Rams' chief rival for the Mid-State league crown.

* * *

THINGS are also looking up at Mansfield high, but the Tygers' fans are keeping their fingers crossed After Saturday's conflict with Columbus East, the Tygers engage their "jinx" foe, Sandusky. Then comes Shelby, with a better chance to win than in any recent campaign Games with Ashland and Akron Kenmore precede the closing tussle with Canton McKinley. Ashland and Kenmore might be regarded as the easiest opponents on the schedule after the Columbus affray, but how often have you seen an Ashland team that was exactly a set-up for the Tygers? The old inspirational stuff, you know. And Kenmore can't be a push-over with a back like Bill Miller in the lineup.

* * *

Looking down Columbus way, it is hard to figure out anything but an Ohio State victory Saturday The Trojans will be tough, but not tough enough, according to the way we look at it.

Writing for the Associated Press, John H. Colburn rates Massillon, Alliance, Hamilton and Portsmouth as the "stand out" high school elevens in the state. Evidently, Mr. Colburn never heard of Canton McKinley.

* * *

Watch Mr. Dizzy Dean, Oscar Vitt advises. "Because of Dean's presence—I don't care what they say about his arm—I look for a hard series with the Yanks winning in six or seven tough games," the Cleveland pilot says "I wouldn't be a bit surprised if Dean started. He may be another Joe Heving to the Yanks. Heving beat them with the same type of stuff Dean will serve them. I'm telling you boys, watch Mr. Dean."

* * *

But, if you select the world's series winner from the talk you hear around the street corners, you'll put your money on the Yankees. In a comparison with the Cubs, the Yankees are cinches, but . . .

* * *

AND, in case you're interested, we do like the Cubs in the world series. Perhaps we're taking the Cubs against our better judgement, but a hunch is a hunch. And, anyway, we can't remember of a world series being won before the first game.

Odds on Yanks Run to 12 to 5

Yankees May Be Trifle Too Cocky to Realize Third Straight Title In Games Opening Today.

By GAYLE TALBOT

CHICAGO—(AP)—Unaccustomed as they are to winning a world series, the Chicago Cubs go into their battle against the wonder Yankees today with bounding hopes and a strong hunch that they are going to upset the apple cart.

There is nothing very sensible about their dream. The Yankees look just as tough as they ever did, and you can't imagine how lethal they look when Red Ruffing is pitching and swinging his bludgeon in ninth position. That particular line-up gives the Yankees nine hitters, any one of whom can, and do, break up ball games.

But that is how the Cubs feel about it. They know that the posted adds are 12 to 5 against their chances, and that the consensus of the experts is that the Yankees will cop their third straight world championship in five games, winding up the series in New York next Monday night.

Cubs Are Confident.

Yet the Cubs go into today's tussle thinking they are going to win. They have an abounding confidence in the pitching of Bill Lee, who faces Ruffing in the first game, and they think they are a "team of destiny," or something At that, there is something mystical about the fact that General Lee, a big fellow from the banjo-belt, is taking another whack at the Yankees.

BILL LEE

A capacity crowd of, loosely, 44,000, was assured for today's game, and that of tomorrow. Wrigley Field, one of the prettiest emporiums in baseball, with its red brick wall circling the outfield, was a sellout last night. Speculators were demanding up to $75 for a set of single seats to the three games that will be played here if the series goes six games, and the more hardy bleacher fans were in line at noon yesterday.

The Yankees, cocky as ever, think they will knock over the Cubs in four straight games. They are, if anything, a trifle too confident. They clinched the American league pennant some three weeks before the campaign ended, and they haven't played good ball since. They didn't look very good in their practice yesterday.

Everybody is agreed that the Cubs are sunk without a ripple if Lee fails them today. Lee has won 22 games this year. He has pitched nine shutouts, more than have been pitched by any other two elbowers in the big leagues. He pitched three innings against the American leaguers in the all-star game at Cincinnati and allowed only one fluke hit.

Lee is a fast-ball pitcher, with a sharp curve that he keeps low and outside. That is supposed to be the only effective pitching against the sluggers of the Yankee batting order. If Lee stops them, then the Cubs have a chance, because the set-up will permit him to pitch three games in the series.

Lefty Gomez is set to pitch the second for the Yankees, and Monte Pearson the third. The Cubs can reply with Clay Bryant and Dizzy Dean, which is strictly no argument if Lee comes a cropper.

Gabby to Play.

Gabby Hartnett, catcher-manager of the Cubs, is determined to play in the series, though he is suffering with a couple of damaged fingers on his right hand. His bat is an important factor in the Cubs' attack.

The games here will be broadcast, but not by Charley Grimm, former manager of the Bruins, who has since become one of the sweetest voices on the air. Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis forbade it, on the ground that Charley might be partial to his old club. The commissioner must have made his decision before he heard that the Cubs had cut Grimm off without a cent of the world series swag.

Schmidt Stresses Forwards

Figures Passes to Win Over Trojans If They Click as They Did Last Week.

By JIM EMERSON

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — If Ohio State's aerial-minded sophomores get their hands on the pigskin at many opportune moments next Saturday, Southern California's Trojans had better prepare for the worst.

The Buck football heavers, led by the sharp-shooting Jim Sexton, hit the bull's eye on six of their 12 attempts against Indiana for a percentage of .500 last Saturday.

Work on Throws.

More of the same will be in store for the invading Trojans next Saturday, Coach Francis Schmidt indicated today as he stressed passes in practice.

The Bucks might have rivalled Indiana in frequency of aerials last week except for one vital matter—the Hoosiers, piling up 16 first downs to six for Ohio State, held possession of the ball more than two-thirds of the game. As it happened, the McMillin-men tried 24 heaves and completed seven while Ohio State snared 50 per cent of attempted passes, including the touchdown payoff from Sexton to Don Scott.

In view of the inexperienced middle of the Ohio State line, Schmidt apparently will rely more than ever on an aerial attack against Southern California, especially when the Bucks get possession of the oval beyond their own 40-yard line, a none too frequent occurrence last week.

Ends Ross Bartschy, Keith Bliss and Wendell Lohr as well as Scott, Halfback Mike Kabealo and Jim Langhurst of Willard can all snare pigskin tosses with amazing skill.

The Trojans who began yesterday their long train ride from Los Angeles to Columbus probably will play without the services of Amby Schindler, shifty quarterback, who played a large role in the 13 to 12 defeat of the Bucks by the men of Troy last year.

Handicapped by Knee.

Schindler has been kept out of the first two U. S. C. games this fall by a trick knee injury and probably will stay out of the game all fall in order to retain another year of eligibility.

Coach Howard Jones has a capable replacement in Grenville Lansdell, substitute for Schindler, in 1937. The Trojan mentor has a heavy line averaging over 200 pounds behind which Lansdell, sophomore fullback Bob Peoples and halfbacks Bob Hoffman, Boyd Morgan and Jim Jones practice the well-known Jones gridiron magic.

Dickey's Worried About (No, Not Cubs) Dogs

By HENRY McLEMORE

ABOARD YANKEE SPECIAL—Tillie, Polly, and Sadie may win the 1938 world series for the Chicago Cubs.

These three, who right now are busy down in Arkansas scratching fleas, may result in the overthrow of the New York Yankees, the team that is rated by many baseball pedants as the greatest ever assembled.

Tillie, Polly, and Sadie are girl bird dogs, and the fact that they perhaps hold the key to the series that starts tomorrow, was unearthed by this reporter last night as the Yankee special train rolled toward Chicago. Seeking information on the series, I approached Bill Dickey, who was sitting quietly in a corner of the club car. His face was a picture of worry, and this pleased me because I figured that he was checking on the strength and weakness of the Chicago line-up.

But Hartnett, Dean, Collins and the rest of the Cubs were far from the mind of the Yanks catcher. His thoughts were all with Tillie, Polly and Sadie, his best three hunting dogs, over whose flagstaff tails he has bagged many a drumming quail.

"They're ailing," Bill said in a drawl thick enough to skate on. "They're ailing sho nuff. I got a letter today that said Tillie and Polly were barely able tc drag themselves about, and that Sadie wasn't nowhere near herself.

I tried to bring the subject around to baseball by asking Bill how he figured Dizzy Dean would go against the Yanks with a slow ball and a change of pace.

"Boy, I sho' hope those dogs come around. Quail are gonna be thicker than watermelon seeds this year."

"Who do you think is the most dangerous hitter on the Cubs?" I asked.

"Huh! I guess I'll have to do a lot of turkey shooting if Polly and those other two dogs are still doing poorly when the season opens. That turkey shooting is all right, but it ain't much fun unless you call your own gobblers."

I tried again to get on baseball, this time with a question concerning how many games Bill thought it would go.

"It ain't like Polly to be sick. I raised her from a pup and she's been sound as a hickory stump until this time. And can she find those birds! Boy, those quail could wear false beards and still she'd root 'em out."

I gave up at this point.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

Keep an eye on John Carliss, a sopohomore down at West Virginia. . . . We're telling you now the guy is hot. . . . Also George Stirnweiss, North Carolina's ace quarterback, who probably will be the outstanding performer in the Southern conference. . . . Pitt's starting backfield (that is, no. 1) should be better than Notre Dame's Four Horsemen of 14 years ago. . . . Dartmouth is the crew to watch in the east. . . . Correction: Instead of reporting overweight, as we chronicled recently, Marshall Goldberg, who carries the mail for Pitt, checked in weighing 184, six pounds less than he scaled last season.

* * *

Five members of Nebraska's starting eleven hail from Lincoln, a city of 80,000 and home of the Cornhuskers. . . . Florida is all set to go to town. . . . In the southwest, it will be Rice and Texas Christian with several others threatening. . . . The most publicized athlete in the Big Ten may be Fred Gage, a Wisconsin sophomore. . . . Things don't look so promising at Minnesota, but they'll probably spread-eagle the field, at that.

* * *

Odds and Ends: Curly Lambeau, coach of the Green Bay Packers, is sending his son, Don, a 212-pound fullback, to Fordham. . . . It now develops that young Taylor, who became director of athletics at the Ashland (Va.) high school at 21, succeeds George Dent, who was appointed to the same post at the ripe old age of 19. . . . Don't sell the Duke football team short despite the mournful wails of Wallace Wade, who is tops in wailing.

19 Tons of Metal To Be Carried on Sportsmen's Backs

COLUMBUS—(AP)—With 19 tons of metal upon their backs, Ohio sportsmen will sally forth into the countryside starting Jan. 1, 1939.

State Conservation Commissioner Lawrence Wooddell said today the first of the new hunting tags had been completed at Ohio penitentiary and arrangements had been made to distribute 600,000 of them throughout the state in November.

It will be the first time metal hunting tags have been used in Ohio, Wooddell said. Total cost will be 2½ cents each, or $15,000, the same price paid last year for celluloid markers. Metal tags were not used before, Wooddell said, because commercial firms quoted a bottom price of $25,000.

DYNAMITE WRECKS TIRES AT HIGH SPEED

Safely ON GOODYEAR LIFEGUARDS

Free Show!
DAY Thursday, Oct. 6
TIME 4:15 P. M.
PLACE Millsborough Road At Marion Ave.

SEE The most spectacular demonstration of hazardous automobile driving of the year... Never attempted before... Blowouts created by dynamite at dazzling speed... Now safely completed on

GOODYEAR LIFEGUARDS

Under Auspices of

Buchan Auto Supply Co.
31 South Main St. Mansfield, Ohio

Remember: DAY Thurs., Oct. 6 TIME 4:15 P. M. PLACE Millsborough Road At Marion Ave.

HERE'S HOW THEY WORK

The Goodyear LifeGuard is a two-ply reserve tire inside a conventional tube—both inflated through the same valve... If casing and tube fail at any speed, the inner tire holds enough air to support the car until it can be brought to a safe, smooth stop without ruining the tire or injury to the occupants... Goodyear LifeGuards are needed in any make or brand of tire. They are manufactured to fit old or new automobile, bus, truck and motorcycle tires.

STOCKS EXTEND GAINS AS WAR SCARE PASSES

Traders Encouraged by Reports of Further Signs of Business Pickup.

BULLETIN.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Prevailing optimism in the financial district, which has increased almost without interruption since the Munich agreement last week, brought another rise in prices today on the New York Stock Exchange, with many leading issues up $1 to $2 or so a share. Many stockers were at new high levels for the year.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Brisk buying kept the stock market pointed upward today in extension of its wide upswing since fear of a general war in Europe diminished.

Showing gains ranging to more than a point were Montgomery Ward, U. S. Steel, General Motors, DuPont, Westinghouse Electric, American Telephone and Santa Fe. Bonds and most commodities also tended upward.

Revival of new corporate financing since the war scare passed was marked by public offering of $37,500,000 of Virginia Electric and Power bonds, the largest since early August.

Trade sources reported further signs of a pick-up in business since the fading of acute war fears.

The "Iron Age" said two or three steel sales offices in New York following settlement of the Sudeten issue in Czechoslovakia had the largest orders for any week this year.

Widely diversified buying, the trade organ said, has sustained the steel industry in its recent climb.

Analysts noted business indicators generally should make increasingly favorable comparison with 1937 because the trend a year ago was sharply downward.

LOSES SUIT OVER 2 HUNTING DOGS

Mansfielder Refused $250 Claim By Appeals Court.

The Fifth district court of appeals held today that Howard H. Heston, Mansfield, is not entitled to $250 for the loss of two hunting dogs in an automobile accident last Jan. 26 near Mansfield.

Heston appealed the case after he was awarded $115 in municipal court here for damage to his automobile. He contended that the dogs, which were in his car parked along the Millsborough road, were worth $125 each.

Heston's car was struck by a truck owned by W. P. Nutter of the Nutter Coal company, Mansfield, who was named defendant in the suit.

GOES ON STAND IN 'SLOT' TRIAL

Lorain Sheriff to Testify Today; State Claims $1,000 Monthly 'Take.'

BULLETIN

ELYRIA — (INS — Alfred G. Bauer, Elyria Democratic committee chairman, today admitted on the witness stand that he collected payments for the Lorain county sheriff's office from slot machine operators.

(By Associated Press)

ELYRIA — Prosecutor Howard R. Butler planned to place Sheriff William F. Grall on the witness stand today to relate his version of slot machine operations in Lorain county, in connection with which five men are on trial charged with bribery.

Butler said he would call Grall, former Chief Deputy William G. Smith and Alfred G. Bauer, local political figure, all of whom are under bond as material witnesses. They appeared before the grand jury and were promised immunity from prosecution.

Those on trial in Common Pleas Judge Guy B. Findley's court before a jury of nine women and three men are Stanley Hobbs, David Crawford, sr., David Crawford, jr., Harry Ziegman and William Peer.

In his opening statement, Butler said the defendants met at Bauer's home and demanded certain concessions in return for a monthly "payoff" of $1,000, to be divided among Grall, Smith and Bauer.

Defense Attorney Charles Adams claimed the accused were victims of "blackmail and extortion on the part of authorities."

Proprietors of places in which slot machines were seized testified yesterday that one or more of the defendants apparently owned the devices. They said the proprietors' split was generally 50 per cent of the machines' "take."

STILLS IN HILLS

U. S. Agents Find 350-Gallon Device in Kentucky.

HAZARD, Ky.—(INS)—There are still stills in Kentucky hills.

Proof of their existence is a 350-gallon affair which sheriff's deputies and Agent J. S. Creech, of the U. S. alcoholic tax unit, found on Rattlesnake creek, 150 yards from a main highway near the Perry-Leslie county line.

Officers said the outfit, the largest ever confiscated in Kentucky, was in operation when they arrived. One man was arrested and charged with its operation.

City's Total for First Nine Months This Year $161,000 Under 1937 Peak Period.

Erection of new homes in Mansfield has sent the total value of construction work for the first nine months in 1938 to $790,250, building permit records revealed today.

The total valuation however is $161,278 below the figures for the same period last year when a new nine-month building peak was set.

The number of new residences under construction is 34 less than last year, with valuations in new home construction down nearly $300,000. Eighty-five homes have been started or completed so far this year with an estimated valuation of $466,600, as compared with 119 homes valued at $706,050 in the corresponding period last year.

Three Rules For Longevity Told By Centenarian

AURORA, Ill. —(INS)— "Work hard, live simply and don't worry" is the success rule laid down by Bert S. Wilder, 103, for other people who would like to live to be a hundred.

Wilder has lived in Aurora for 101 years and as proof of his advice he points pridefully to the garden he still plows, plants and attends even at 103.

Up early every morning, the pioneer ankles long distances over country roads and sometimes, when his strength is taxed, has to hitch-hike home.

When he reached the 100th milestone Wilder celebrated by going to a Chicago night club. His 103rd birthday was celebrated at a banquet given him by the Cosmopolitan club of Aurora.

Wilder laughs derisively at what he terms the softies of the present day. He says:

"What this generation needs is more hard work. They're soft — all of them."

NOT MISSING, JUST MARRIED

Hitch-Hiking Girl Ends Up Wed To Benefactor.

WOODSFIELD— (AP) —Reminiscent of a motion picture plot was the marriage here of Harry Denny of Barnesville and Ednabelle Wright of Shadyside. The 18-year-old Miss Wright set out to hitch-hike from the farm of relatives near Belmont, and was last seen when a young man motorist gave her a lift.

When she did not reach her Barnesville destination promptly, her family asked authorities to search for her, but the hunt was called off when the girl telephoned her parents that she had married her motorist-benefactor.

The happy family greeted the bridal couple with open arms.

Senator Sees 'Rebellion' Force New Changes.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — A "farmers' rebellion" will force congress to abandon or modify the present farm program Senator Ellison D. Smith (D.) of South Carolina, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, has predicted.

As Smith told of widespread dissastisfaction with the law, a group of southern senators gathered in conference at his call to consider relief for cotton producers.

Declaring that "you can't regulate nature," Smith said that cotton farmers probably will reject a new cotton crop control program in a fall referendum.

"In my opinion farmers, both grain and cotton, will demand a simplified form of farm legislation," said Smith, "one they can more readily adapt themselves to than the complicated cotton, tobacco and grain programs."

ASKS PAYMENT

Church Board Seeks to Terminate Trust Set Up in Will.

The board of trustees of the Central M. E. church, Mansfield, today had filed a suit in common pleas court seeking to terminate a trust set up in the will of the late Sarah J. Balliett and to require Charles E. Nail, administrator of the estate, to pay $198 in cash due the church from the estate.

The plaintiffs' petittion states that a $4,000 trust fund for the church was provided in the will, but assets of the estate were sufficient to give the church only $198, an amount too small to make a profitable trust fund. A cash settlement for the amount is asked by the trustees.

Nail and the Farmers Savings and Trust company, which was designated as trustee for the legacy, were named defendants in the action. Atty. Claude F. Ewing represent the church.

BENES RESIGNS CZECH POST TO APPEASE HITLER

President Steps Aside To Ease Situation in Tiny, Shrinking Republic.

ment both in external and internal affairs.

"I am fully convinced that a better period now lies before."

Vilified by Hitler and praised by the world's democracies for his long and determined resistance to German invasion, Benes was the man who by the sheer force of his personality and will held Czechoslovakia together until the four big powers of Europe decided that only by its partition could peace be saved.

It was Benes who represented Czechoslovakia at the peace conferences which brought the nation into being, and Benes who incurred the deathless hatred of Hitler for refusing until all hope had vanished to hand over an inch of Czech territory to Germany.

Holds His Silence.

In the last few days, while the German army marched into the Sudetenland, Poland occupied Teschen and the task of carving up Czechoslovakia got well under way, Benes had remained silent in the ancient royal palace overlooking the Moldava river where for years he had directed the destinies of the nation.

His last public utterance was at the height of the recent war scare when he admonished his followers to remain calm and determined. He left the tragic task of formally announcing Czechoslovakia's surrender to General Syrovy, who told the nation that Czechoslovakia had been deserted by her allies and compelled to yield to force, sacrificing herself in order that all Europe be spared the horror of war.

Benes, often called the "smartest little statesman" in Europe, was for years the spokesman of the small democracies. At Geneva and elsewhere, he was their leader and their champion, holding firm against discrimination and aggression alike.

Born of ancient peasant stock in the Bohemian town of Kozlany on May 28, 1884, Benes was one of Masaryk's earliest supporters. He served long as foreign minister under him and was named minister in 1921. When Masaryk retired because of old age shortly before his death, Benes was elected president to succeed him.

Dictatorial Power Near for Daladier.

PARIS—(AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier early today won chamber of deputies consent to rule France by decree until Nov. 15, after a stormy night of political maneuvering during which he was forced to make repeated concessions to avoid overthrow of his government.

The vote was 331 to 78 with 204 deputies refusing to vote, notably different from the 535 to 75 approval with which the chamber yesterday acclaimed Daladier as a savior of peace.

Daladier now has to push his dictatorial powers bill through the senate, which adjourned shortly after midnight. Lengthy wrangling kept the chamber in session until dawn.

Senate approval of the premier's demand for decree powers seemed assured when the finance committee of the upper house passed the government bill with only three absentions, including former Premier Pierre Laval, and no opposing votes.

Britain, Italy Nearing Accord.

ROME—(U.P.)—A British-Italian agreement to liquidate outstanding disagreements is imminent, it was reported today in most reliable quarters.

It was even predicted that agreement might be reached by tomorrow night.

The Earl of Perth, British ambassador, and Count Galeazzo Ciano, foreign minister, had their third talk within three days this morning.

It was understood that they made further progress toward an agreement which would:

1—Bring the withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain.

2—Result in bringing into effect the British-Italian pact, concluded in April but hinged on the withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain.

3—Result in British recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, which also was a part of the friendship treaty.

Commission Hits Snag on Sudetenland.

BERLIN—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman said today that the international commission supervising cession of the Sudetenland to Germany was confronted by new difficulties in delimination of the fifth zone of occupation and "the question of reparations for injustices inflicted by the Czechs on the Sudetens since 1918."

As the commission resumed its discussions today the spokesman indicated progress might be difficult from this point on.

"Hitherto it was easy, as the four zones (to be occupied by the German army before Oct. 8) were already fixed at Munich and only certain technical details remained," he said.

"The fifth zone will prove more difficult. Also there is the question of reparations for the injustices inflicted by the Czechs upon the Sudetens since 1918."

Previously an inspired source close to the foreign office indicated such reparations would be demanded of Czechoslovakia just as soon as the Sudetenland was completely in German hands.

Russia Attacks Treaty With France.

MOSCOW — (U.P.) — Speculation in diplomatic quarters on Russia's foreign policy in light of the four power agreement at Munich for dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, was intensified today by publication of an article questioning the value of the Russian-French military alliance.

The article was published in the French language weekly, Journal De Moscou, whose sources of information at the foreign office here are regarded as making its pronouncements almost of semi-official importance.

Without directly suggesting a definite breach with France the Journal De Moscou said the four power agreement had made the Russian-French alliance "practically invalid."

German Soldiers Speed Occupation.

KARLSBAD, SUDETENLAND —(U.P.)—German soldiers moved eastward through here today completing the occupation of zone No. 3 of Sudentenland.

Sudeten Germans cheered them on and occasionally turned in anger on straggling Czechs and Jews who had not joined the exodus to Czechoslovakia. Many shops were painted with the words "Jew," "racial defiler" and "here is headquarters for emigration."

German officers protested that the Czechs evacuating the town for hours ahead of the invading troops, had confiscated all but two of the 10,000 automobiles, had taken all motorcycles and had threatened filling station attendans with hand grenades to obtain gasoline.

DEATH CLAIMS CIVIL WAR VET

Kimpton Ozier, Who Marched With Sherman to Sea, Stricken at 94.

The ranks of Mansfield's surviving Civil War veterans were reduced to five when Kimpton Ozier, 94, died Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Loesch, 72, Sheridan avenue, after an extended illness.

A member of Company D, Second Ohio Cavalry, Mr. Ozier accompanied General William T. Sherman and his army of the Cumberland on the famous march from Chattanooga to Atlanta.

Among the conflicts in which Mr. Ozier participated were the Battle of Resaca, Kenesaw mountain and siege of Atlanta.

In the last year of the war he was taken prisoner while on a scouting trip and held in the Libby prison at Richmond for 14 days when he was removed to the dreaded Andersonville prison. He was held there 10 months and weighed only 65 pounds when he was released.

Mr. Ozier was a native of Olivesburg but resided in this city more than 50 years. He was in charge of the stables for the Cotter Transfer company for many years.

Surviving are a son, Nelson of Chardon, and a number of grandchildren. A daughter died two months ago.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home. Arrangements have not been completed.

The approximate expenditures thus far were estimated at $1,000.

Mrs. Ireland will fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Ruth Early, who tendered her resignation. The club is rehearsing for its public recital at the Mansfield-Leland ballroom Nov. 15. Mrs. Edith Fletcher Jameson, director, announced that the roster was open for two or more second sopranos.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

DEFEAT OF MOVE TO HEAL LABOR SPLIT FORESEEN

A. F. of L. Vote on Resolution Would Give Roosevelt Reply on Plea for Harmony.

(By Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Tex. — American Federation of Labor leaders, well informed sources said today, may reply indirectly to President Roosevelt's appeal for labor peace by disapproving a resolution calling on the 58th annual convention to order re-opening of the unity conference with John L. Lewis' CIO.

The resolution, submitted by delegates from the hotel and restaurant employes international alliance, demanded that peace negotiations broken off last December be renewed immediately.

It also asked that the A. F. of L. recognize Lewis' policy of industrial unionism.

Green Explodes Hopes.

Any possibility that the resolutions committee might approve the resolution was virtually exploded yesterday by William Green. The federation's president told newspapermen:

"Overtures for a peace conference should and ought to come from the CIO. There is no immediate prospect for peace and nothing for us to do but wait."

Green's comment was prompted by a message to the convention from Mr. Roosevelt in which he expressed hope the door to peace would be left open.

"I don't consider the suggestion by the president as indicating a disposition on his part to interfere," Green said. "But if the president would submit a definite proposal I would place it before the executive council at once."

Green said he doubted the questions involved in the three year old controversy were susceptible to mediation efforts from any quarter.

Convention leaders formally filed the president's letter in the convention record and led the delegates back to the job of grinding out federation policies on some of the New Deal agencies.

BUCYRUS — Funeral services will be held probably Thursday for Albert Long, 50, a bachelor of Chatfield, killed while he was hunting Monday on a farm near his Chatfield home.

His body was found Tuesday by William Green, a neighbor.

When found, Long was by a tree, whehe he apparently sat when he pulled the trigger of his own gun with a piece of wood which was still clenched in his hand, authorities said. He was wearing his hunting jacket and license.

Cause of his act had not been determined today by Sheriff Albert French, who was investigating.

CCC CAMP STAYS

Ashland Told Workers Will Remain for Six Weeks.

ASHLAND—CCC men at Camp Mohican near Loudonville will remain at the Camp for at least six weeks more according to word received by E. H. Gilbert, chief of the forestry department of the camp, from the Ohio forestry headquarters at Chillicothe. This additional time should allow men time enough to complete several of the projects now under way.

It had been formerly announced that the camp would be transferred to location in the western states on Sept. 30. Many protests in the county had been raised against the moving of the camp.

If transfer is made, the group will go to Camp Hocking to fill vacancies of men sent west.

Hunters Set Fire To Woods, So Ban Goes Up on Farm

One more Richland county farm has been posted with a "No Hunting Allowed" sign as the result of carelessness and poor sportsmanship on the part of hunters themselves.

F. H. Fike, whose farm near Little Washington has been open to hunters for several years, paid a high price for his generosity Monday when a large piece of his woods was destroyed by fire started by hunters.

The hunters evidently set fire to two trees to smoke out squirrels, Fike said, and then went away and left the trees burning. The fire spread to other trees in the woods and a band of 15 neighboring farmers was formed to fight the fire.

They worked all night Monday night, cutting down a ring of trees around the burning portion of the woods before the fire was brought under control.

Other farmers in the vicinity, incensed by the poor sportsmanship, intimated that their farms would also be posted forbidding huting.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1938.

Hatred must be removed from the heart before understanding can enter the mind.

The promise that "the meek will inherit the earth" can scarcely be applied to Hitler's way of taking over Sudetenland.

Two years ago New York Democrats induced Governor Lehman to run again so as to carry the state for Roosevelt, and now he must run again in the hope of beating Dewey. Surely sometime an understudy will have to be developed.

Example In Philanthropy.

THE General Education Board, a philanthropic institution established by the Rockefellers in 1902, is approaching complete liquidation. Not because of failure, but because of great success and the original plan of its founders to make it serve a generation without projecting itself too far into an unknown future.

In the years since its inception the board has spent $255,334,670 to advance education. It has helped particularly medical education, colleges of liberal arts, Negro education in the South and educational research. Prior to 1920 income only was used. Since then it has been the board's considered policy to spend principal as well. It is expected that the last funds will be exhausted within a few more years and the board will pass out of existence.

Negro education, general education in the secondary schools and junior colleges, and research in child growth and development are the special interests of the board in its last few years.

An important piece of work has been well done in the time for which it was planned. The educational foundations built by the General Education Board will last when the builder is gone. Future generations may build on them according to future needs.

Planned Halloween Wins Favor.

ARRIVAL of October brings thoughts of Halloween. and with considerable satisfaction it becomes known Mansfield is to again have a community Halloween celebration, sponsored by the Gasoline Retailers association of the city.

Mansfield has been fortunte, for a number of years, in providing something in the way of organized entertainment for Halloween night, instead of the orgy of rowdyism and property-destruction common to earlier times and still prevalent in some communities.

Halloween has long been regarded as a season of fun and frolic, in which ordinary rules of good behavior are temporarily put aside.

This has naturally led to some excesses which require parental or police intervention in preventing youthful exuberance from getting too far out of bounds.

Adults are inclined to be tolerant of juvenile pranks and mischievousness on Halloween but cannot be expected to condone property damage or a week-long period of annoyance.

A community celebration, with masked parade and a variety of entertainment features, is probably the best possible solution of the Halloween problem, coupled with a firm attitude on the part of parents and authorities against spreading the observance through several days before and afterward.

Science Studies Bubbles.

BUBBLES have always seemed beautiful but simple things, playthings for children. They were just thin shells of liquid filled with air, that made wonderful little mirrors with an iridescence that gave ever-changing charm.

Like everything else, they grow more complicated when science starts studying them, as it has been doing lately. No longer are they trifling toys, but subjects of serious work in costly laboratories manned by savants, using mile-a-minute films that make 2,000 pictures a second.

"Bubbles are not the simple things they appear to be in bubble gum or coming from a soapsuds pipe," says Dr. Gustavus J. Esselen of Boston, telling the American Chemical society about them. "They are complex worlds in themselves, in which tiny fragments of liquid shoot around inside like particles whirling around the nucleus of an atom." This is true of the tiniest as well as the largest bubbles, and has not been known before.

So this very complicated world grows even more intricate and puzzling. A pipe-bubble may be as much worth studying as a sun. In the smallest things as in the biggest, we find incredible activity and evidence of tremendous forces in operation. And the more we find out the more there seems to be to learn.

Patent Law Proposals.

PROPOSALS that American patent laws be revised are attended with charges that some useful patents in recent years have been suppressed and withheld from commercial application for selfish reasons. The American Chemical society now asks its members to report all such suppressions.

"This is a matter of great importance to the American people." says the secretary of the society, "and if the rumors are true they should be informed thereof." All facts gathered will be presented to the congressional committees on patents when they begin to consider basic changes in the patent laws.

One of the suggested changes aimed at alleged suppression of patents would limit to five years the absolute monopoly now granted for seventeen years. At the end of the period, if the holder has refused to develop his patent for practical use, compulsory licensing would follow.

Many people have thought the charges of patent suppression were much exaggerated. The truth needs to be known, one way or the other, and patent laws need be examined and brought up to date in the light of present conditions and future needs.

Sally Clark, sister-in-law of one of the Roosevelt boys, says she's "not much of a singer" but that the Roosevelt connection got her a job—but it's hoped that she at least has a different song.

Conduct that some folks blame on "human nature" is really attributable to animal nature.

As the Schenectady man remarked—some foreign cities have such odd names.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — What Hitler needs for trade penetration is not Storm Troopers but a corps of plump fellows like Walter Foote of Texas, or some of the other U. S. trade hunters. Foote is the man who taught jungle Scotsmen to drink soda pop.

He is one of those singular fellows in the state department career service to whom red tape is simply something you find in piccaninnies hair. He looks like the ruddy Dutchmen Rembrandt liked to paint.

Foote is in the consular service. His job is to see to it that American goods gets a fair break in world markets. There are scores like him in the service. They're stuck away in the trading marts of the world. They never make the headlines, but their work shows up in the trade statistics. That's where the soda pop popped up.

* * *

Ye American Native.

FOR generations many people living in the jungle countries of the East Indies have soothed their feelings with scotch whisky and soda. But while Foote was consulting in the Dutch East Indies, he recalled that back in torrid America the natives (you and I) were achieving the same effect with soda pop.

So, he began asking dealers in the Indies why they didn't serve soda pop.

"No demand," was the invariable reply, "and it tastes awful."

Foote didn't believe that last crack. He investigated and found the trouble was they were getting soda pop that was not made in America—usually a sallow mixture of fruit juice and pep-less fizz water. And it was served without ice.

Foote finally persuaded a few dealers to take on small consignments of American pop and to serve it with ice. American soda pop didn't sweep the Indies like a plague. But it took on so well that one company now has its own bottling plant in Java. It can be had at the better bars at 15 cents a bottle. The dealers won't handle it for a nickle a bottle.

Foote says his primest recollection is seeing two Scotsmen at a fashionable club in Batavia, sipping Yankee pop through a straw. (Each had a bottle, not two straws for one bottle.)

* * *

Ye Olde Mint Julep.

AND again, there is the business of mint juleps. They had to be put across in the East Indies the same way. Now you can get American Bourbon (you don't make juleps with scotch) at bars where it was never offered before.

Electric refrigerators went the same way. A proud and wealthy Dutchman at Batavia built himself a swank mansion—completely electrified, except for the ice box. Dutchmen in the Indies had used ordinary ice boxes for 100 years or more and electrics never could make headway.

The break came to Foote. He was a guest at the house warming. When the show was about at its peak he suggested quietly to his host that the house was perfect—except for the ice box. Wouldn't an electric one be better?

Well, the idea spread until now, says Foote, "the things go like hot cakes." We didn't supply that comparison. It's his.

And let's not pass on until we record what came out of Virginia in the past few days. Managing Editor Leon Dure, of "The Richmond Times-Dispatch," has coined a term to describe these stamp money schemes designed to make the country prosperous and the aged comfortable. Sheridan Downey, California stamp money advocate, who defeated Senator McAdoo in the Democratic primary, is one of those Dure had in mind. Dure calls him a "scrip-teaser."

ANOTHER CONFERENCE GETS UNDER WAY

Mansfield's Future in Aviation

—By JAMES R. (BUD) HARRINGTON

Editor's Note — Following is the first of several articles on aviation, written by James R. (Bud) Harrington, who has been acting in the capacity of manager of the Mansfield airport, without compensation, and who has given freely of his own time and money, in development and maintenance of the flying field. Mr. Harrington, who is vice president of the Autocall company, Shelby, is a licensed pilot, an aviation enthusiast and is widely recognized as a competent instructor. In this article he tells of Mansfield's admirable location in the field of aerial transportation, and of the need for completion of the city's airport.

THERE are three distinct branches of aeronautics in the United States, the military, scheduled air line service and civilian aviation. Unfortunately, the average person is more familiar with scheduled air line service and military flying than civilian aviation, due to the fact that the greatest publicity is given those two branches. Civilian aviation, however, considerably outnumbers the activity of the other two branches and it is surprising to note that at the conclusion of the first six months of this year, there were approximately 37,000 individuals engaged in flying privately owned aircraft.

Upon examining the statistics from year to year, which show the active interest of civilians in piloting their own airplanes, it becomes apparent that the average men of the street are well on their way to accepting ownership of their own aircraft for transportation and sport.

Within Richland county alone, it will probably be surprising to many to learn that there are approximately 50 individuals who are actively engaged in flying, or learning to fly, so as to take advantage of this great development.

Limitless Highway.

One of the most remarkable facts concerning this form of transportation, and the one that aids greatly in its efficiency, is that practically every inch of air in the atmosphere is in itself a highway for the private flyer; and that the means of sustaining aircraft in flight and providing airways from one point to another is through a medium that absolutely required no original planning, expense or maintenance.

At the present time, our most popular means of transportation, the automobile, has resulted in confining the limits of travel to relatively narrow highways and on a single level. When it is realized that the skyways offer unlimited paths for transportation, it is no wonder that it is rapidly gaining such high favor among individuals.

It is necessary, however, that starting points and terminals be provided so that flights from one part of the country to another can be started and finished in safety.

It is that responsibility in flying that is carried by the airports of the country.

The establishment of an airport in a community is no different than paving the highways and streets in and through that community for the aid of surface traffic. It is also a well known fact that unless adequate means are provided for any form of transportation, transportation will cease to exist in and from that locality and will avoid it if at all possible.

In keeping with the normal progress of other communities and with the world in general, therefore, it seems justifiable, for us as citizens of Mansfield to consider just what we have accomplished in the way of attracting and providing facilities for air traffic.

A number of years ago, the city of Mansfield purchased approximately 180 acres of ground two and one-half miles north of the city limits on Route 13, which is North Main street road.

At that time, it consisted of more or less undeveloped land and had a considerable number of trees and other obstructions which had to be removed in order to begin resemblance of an airport.

Still Uncompleted.

From that time until today, considerable money has been spent on improving the airport by WPA, PWA and other agencies and as we take stock of the field today, we find that we still have an uncompleted airport and one not generally accepted as being satisfactory for air traffic.

To some, it may seem that the amount of money spent to date has been wasted, but as we review the work that has been accomplished, we do find that there has been some very constructive work done although, unfortunately, it does not show from the surface.

The work accomplished to date has consisted of grading the airport, removing the highest elevations and installing many miles of drain tile and a drain system to take care of excessive moisture within the soil.

The work, however, must be completed if Mansfield is to play a progressive part in this great means of transportation and it is time that we acknowledge our liability and set about to organize an airport completion program.

What Is Needed.

Airports for cities the size of Mansfield and larger, generally consist of an area approximately the size of our airport, upon which hard surface runways are constructed so as to allow aircraft to land and take off into winds which exist at the airport at the time. Hard surface runways, similar to concrete or asphalt highways, are provided so as to allow aircraft to take off and land during periods when the sod on the field would otherwise be too soft from heavy rains to carry the weight of the ship. In this respect of course, an airplane as it travels on the ground, prior to take off and during its landing run, is no different a vehicle in some respects than an automobile or truck.

The average runways throughout the country are generally from 150 to 300 feet wide and from 1,800 to 5,000 feet long.

At Mansfield, the most desirable arrangement would be runways of approximately 150 feet wide by 2,500 feet long and extending in four different directions. One runway would serve the east and west direction; the second, the north and south; the third, southwest and northwest; and fourth, for northwest and southeast.

Competitions In Pensions.

Dizzy days are ahead for the pensioneers. Migratory fortune hunters who in '39 will start emulating the gold rush of '49 won't have just a single goal. For treasure is going to be where you find it.

California's $30-on-Thursday has seemed to make the charting simple. Every one, naturally, would go to California.

But along comes a Kansas scheme for $25 on Tuesday, with a half that amount for widows and 10 per cent for each widow's child.

That means, at least, a stopover in Kansas on the way to the Thursday paradise. But how can one be sure, as he moves on from the land of Tuesday's twenty-five to Thursday's thirty, that some state further east won't offer a Friday special fifty, and that if he turns back to avail himself of that, some enterprising area off to the right or left won't top the others with a $60 Saturday?

Finally we shall simply have to make some arrangement whereby the '39ers can stay at home and get their gifts by mail.—Des Moines Register.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

'What Will Mrs. Grundy Say?'

Awesome, fearsome, hated, respected, silent, eloquent, unperceived, but ever about and not to be trifled with is Mrs. Grundy—a totally imaginary individual, therefore forever unseen, yet known always to be close by and vigilant.

Mrs. Grundy's real name was Public Opinion, which she personified in the guise of a very conventional Englishwoman, off-stage, but her presence ever sensed, her nose known to tilt at the slightest impropriety, her eyebrows to arch at any infringement, even the most minute, of etiquette, and whose displeasure at infranctions of the code of behaviour, dress and mores was heavy and implacable.

The first appearance of this mythical character in the English language is in the play Speed the Plough (1798) by Thomas Morton.

Produced before an enthusiastic audience in the Covent Garden, London, the theme line which gave the world a new criterion for judgment was:

"What will Mrs. Grundy say?"

Listen, World!

The "Good Loser" Racket.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

QUEER, how Human Nature manages to camouflage its own cussedness and mask its meanness, even from itself—with a flock of haloes!

Take, f'instance, these professional domestic martyrs. . . . Those Brave, Bright, Bearers-Up, whose sweet smile invariably hides a heart-broken smile even though there's nothing to be heart-brokenish about.

The "don't-mind-me-I-don't-matter" clan who always insist on taking the chicken's neck . . . or wearing the cast-off clothes . . . or staying home to do the dishes while the rest of the gang go to the movies.

Met them? Of course you have, and probably swallowed their line. But is that line either necessary or sincere? It is not! It's a racket—one of the meanest on earth—whereby disgruntled, self-centered natures secure spotlights and achieve pedestals by a show of suffering. Thereby making us ordinary eggs feel like Heels without half trying!

But at last, goody-goody, Hollywood, itself, has called their number. And if you want an hour's laugh—and the joy of getting hunk—don't miss that martyr expose "LOVE, HONOR AND OBEY," which Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane are putting over with much gusto.

It starts with the usual line-up. Beauteous, Brunet Wife — brooding, blood-hound type—divorces Unworthy Mate and gains custody of adoring young son. After which she does her darndest to make a mess of the Young Squirt, despite Dad's strenuous struggles to save him.

For Dad, though a mere worm by Mama's rating, happens to be a real male with a healthy he-man's fighting attitude toward life. But to Beauteous Mother, Fighting Attitudes are an abomination. Noble Gestures of renunciation are her specialty.

Why Fight when you can Fade, with gobs of applause and one-tenth the risk to your lovely complexion? To be a "Good Loser" is all that counts . . . and she proceeds to make the role so glamorous that Sonny soaks up every muffled moan.

Years pass. Son has acquired acres of masculine charm and mascular menace . . . but, to the horror of his campus mates, he has also copied Mama's martyr technique to the dot. Sufferin' catfish, what can be done about it! Here he is—able to grab any honor or sock any chin in sight. But what happens when the crucial moment strikes? Why, he simply smiles sweetly, makes the Supreme Sacrifice and departs, leaving honors ungrabbed and chins unsocked, while Mama sogs her adoring pride for his Gallantry.

In vain Dad pleads that it's seldom if ever necessary to make Supreme Sacrifices, much less go out looking for them. In vain he raves that Noble Resignation is merely a foul way of attracting attention . . . or dodging punishment. Mother and Son merely smile with pitying condescension and Go Their Gallant Way. Until, at last, a Pert little Skirt, with a real, sporting creed—and a loathing for all phoney acts—proceeds to kidnap Angel Child and show him what a Smarty Pants he has become. Which hurts plenty but ends lovely. Only I DO wish that someone had smacked mama somewhere, somehow.

Which, I repeat, is a perfect example of the way human critters camouflage our cussedness Sacrifice and suffering, unfortunately are still part of our human program. But Civilized Persons no longer consider them Stock in Trade. We now know that most of our misfortunes are our own fault and could be avoided if we'd use enough gumption. If, despite said sense and gumption, we still find ourselves on the spot, we either fight things through . . . or take our lickings in silence. In somebody or other's immortal words—

PUT UP OR SHUT UP, KID!

A Farmer's Diary

A Chicken Business.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THEY bought a little run-down farm a year ago, and moved there. Today I stopped, and scarcely knew the place. The old colonial house was white with several coats of paint. The rear had been remodeled, and the lawn had taken on an air of neatness and repair. Electric wiring was in evidence.

A pleasant woman in a ruffled cap was going to the barn with two big shiny milk pails. A teen-age boy was putting corn into the stalls for three, slow ambling cows, who came from the woodlot.

"Do you always milk?" I asked her.

"Almost always, unless it gets too late before the chickens are dressed for market. We got along well, today. Killed 150, and have them in the cooler."

"What!" I exclaimed. "A hundred fifty in one day?"

"Why yes," she laughed. "There's nothing to it—except work. We got up early and just kept on till it was done. I had two women helping. The fowls are picked up and plumped and drawn. Tomorrow morning I'll have to put the giblets in and pack them. My son will drive the car and do the carrying—but I always go along delivering and take the orders for next time. I like to. The people who buy from us are all so nice."

"But you don't raise the chickens all yourself?"

"Oh, no—my husband buys them up around the country. Some of my friends, who raise them, furnish me a regular number every week."

"How long have you been at this business?"

"Nearly ten years, now, and some of my first customers are still buying. The L— hotel takes all their birds from me."

She vanished into the stable. I heard the quick, sharp sounds of streams of milk striking the bottom of the pail. Her husband backed his truck into the garage, and closed the door. The stripling son took corn to a dozen sleek white shoats.

"Co-operation, business, industry, and thrift," I thought. "I'm glad they moved into the neighborhood."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The words "mural" and "controversy" will have to be hypenated soon. They're practically inseparable. The latest storm has broken over the New York World's fair where James Owen Mahoney's $5,000 prize-winning mural for the Hall of Judiciary is being drenched with epithets by nationally known artists. This time they complain that the mural is "unoriginal" and "undistinguished."

Postoffice murals often cause battles. That little spat between Rockwell Kent and the Puerto Ricans a year ago was over a mural Kent had done for the postoffice building, Washington. The Puerto Ricans objected to that message in Eskimo: "Puerto Rico miuniera ilaptiumum: ke ha chimmeulakut—and so forth. In other words, "Let's change chiefs." Besides, Kent's Puerto Ricans, said the natives looked like Africans. They weren't enthusiastic.

* * *

THE mural trouble which should have ended all mural trouble, and didn't, took place at Rockefeller Center. Diego Rivera, the celebrated Mexican artist, insisted on incorporating a figure of Lenin. The Rockefellers said no. Before the thing was over, Rivera threatened court proceedings, 400 left-wingers picketed Radio City, and the Rockefellers were called everything from "perfect gentlemen" to "cultural vandals."

Another sore point at Rockefeller Center was the portrayal of Christ in a panel depicting the sermon on the mount. Frank Brangwyn, the artist said he was told to omit Christ. One idea was to use a "great light." Finally, a compromise was reached, and the figure was presented in such a way that the face didn't show.

Now that the WPA is muralizing public buildings far and wide, we have a lot to look forward to. A mural by a Japanese artist, Eirar Ishigaki, in Harlem court, gave Abraham Lincoln the same dusky hue as the slaves he was liberating. In addition, the murals were called both "inciting" and "depressing."

Fortunately the murals were tacked up temporarily. Before they were officially approved (or disapproved) by the Municipal Art commission, they disappeared. Attaches of the Harlem court said they didn't know when the paintings were removed or where they were taken.

* * *

ARTIST HAROLD WESTON'S mural morale has been unshaken. His laughter tinkles clearly above the outraged cries. In a series of murals for the treasury department, he burlesqued murals which had caused, shall we say, "controversies" in other government buildings.

One shows Justice distinctly leering from beneath her blindfold. Another outnudes an Indian scalping mural in which the exposure of flesh was critized. "It's all in fun," he declared.

One reason for such tempests may be that murals have something in common with the movies. The man in the street has an interest in them. A painting which might have an unblemished reputation in the cloistered retreat of the art galleries, can't take it in the market places. John Doe, buying a stamp in the postoffice, sees a mural which is "un-American" or "unconventional." It's his postoffice and he revolts.

How does a mural get that way in the first place? Some critics are so unkind as to cry "publicity" when a freak mural sees the limelight. But it may be more than that. There are artists who just burn with convictions, and a mural is a good medium for propaganda.

And if nothing else causes a mural-controversy, there's always surrealism.

'BABY BOUNTY' GOES TO 30,502 ITALIAN HOMES

Loans Over Ten Months Total More Than $2,600,000, Says Report From Rome.

(By United Press)

ROME—In the 10 months since the institution of "Baby Loans," designed to increase the birth rate, the Fascist government has advanced more than $2,600,000 to 30,052 married couples who want children but can't afford them.

The effect of these loans on the birth rate cannot be determined yet because the first loans were only granted in August of last year.

But Fascist officials are confident the natality chart will register a sharp upward rise because these loans are automatically reduced with the birth of each child. Four children wipe out the entire debt to the government.

Decision in March, 1937.

The Fascist Grand Council, meeting in March last year, decided to institute loans to poor couples who want children but lacked the necessary cash for doctor bills and care. This was done to encourage an increase in the birth rate, which was not rising at a speed which Premier Benito Mussolini would have liked to see.

The loans, varying from $52 to $155, are restricted to couples under 26 who are not earning more than $630 annually. The loans are repayable over a number of years, with the stipulation the payments will be reduced with the birth of each child.

With the birth of the first child the amount of the loan is automatically reduced 10 per cent. The birth of the second child reduces the loan another 20 per cent The third child cuts the loan down another 30 per cent. The remaining sum is automatically canceled when a fourth child is born. The birth of each child automatically postpones for one year the interest and amortization due on the loan for that year.

Farmers' Loans Lowest.

Since Aug. 1, 1937, there have been 30,502 loans granted for a total of $2,677,813. The largest percentage of these loans (through May of this year went to common employes, while farmers showed the lowest percentage.

In addition to this form of aid to deserving young couples, the government also has continued its policy of making outright cash gifts to poor families. In three years the government has given cash prizes totaling $12,000,000 to young couples, either for having got married or raising children. Approximately one-third of this money was given to young couples who wanted to get married but did not have enough money, and the other two-thirds to couples who already were married but couldn't afford children.

Back of all these measures is Mussolini's desire to arrest a tendency toward a declining birth rate and to carry Italy's population to 60,000,000 as soon as possible.

AFRAID TO MARRY + + +

By HELEN WELSHIMER

(Copyright, 1938)

CHAPTER 11

DURING THE next few days Judy Rogers searched again for a job. It rained. It grew colder, and there was a snow flurry. She scanned want ad columns. She relaxed and read the society pages, because the names and the faces were so familiar. It was strange to be living in this world which was so near the one that had been her home, and yet so far removed.

She had arranged for her mail to be held for her at the post-office. An occasional letter from her mother came. She was sympathetic, not too worried. In her own luxury she did not grasp the economic upheaval which had taken place in her former husband's household.

If her father wrote to her, Judy did not know it. His mail would go to France, and her mother's secretary would forward it on to Judy, so it would be late in coming. True, there was a chance that her mother might see a letter and wonder. Not likely, though. She never troubled herself with details.

It seemed to Judy on a particularly cold evening that all the girls in Manhattan walked with her—young, slim, eager-eyed, tired, discouraged. She felt them pressing her, hurrying, trying to make the agencies first, that they might ask for any available jobs. Judy wanted to laugh. She wanted to tell them that they might as well go home, if they had homes. There were no jobs.

* * *

In one employment agency she had met a girl who had been attracted to New York by the coming world's fair.

"I thought there would be thousands of jobs," she moaned. "The City of Tomorrow, they call the fair. It held promise. But every position is gone. Swallowed up."

"Yes, I know. I've been there." Judy had waded through debris and machinery and mud in Flushing park meadow, which was a long ride on the subway, to present an application.

"I think I'll go home. My father is a high school teacher. I can get a grade to teach if I want it," Judy's informant went on.

Judy brightened.

"Where do you live?"

The girl named a town in Iowa.

"Do you think I could teach a grade, too?"

"Have you a normal certificate or your major in education?" the girl asked. "You must have! You have your background written all over you. Where did you go to school?"

Thoughtlessly Judy named her school. It was one of the ultra-expensive institutions in the east. The school teacher's daughter changed her frank approach.

"Oh! Then you wouldn't want to teach. You belong to a different environment. I should have known."

"But I don't! I mean, that's ended. I want to teach school—in Iowa."

The girl spoke slowly. "I think you do. But boarding schools don't prepare people for teaching. I'm afraid you couldn't do it without a year or two of normal training."

"I suppose so." Judy could speak French fluently. She could play the piano well. She could sing. Not much, but with a sweet, alto voice. She could row, ride, swim, golf, play tennis, drive a car. She had been leading lady in her class play, and starred a time or two in a Junior league play.

But she did not know the things that were necessary to obtain a job. She smiled, remembering that she had forgotten one qualification. She could wear clothes, and design them.

* * *

All this had happened an hour before. Now Judy was on her way home. She saw tall shoulders in the crowd before her, and caught her breath so swiftly that it hurt. There was only one person in all the world who walked with that easy, nonchalant grace. Only one head that faced the world so fearlessly. She should have known that some day she would meet Craig on the street. Paths always crossed. Maybe not for a long time. Maybe quite fleetingly. But always, always there came a moment when two people who had laughed and played together looked at each other and remembered.

She wondered if her nose was shiny. One sole was thin. The damp pavement made her foot ache. She was glad people couldn't see soles.

She had avoided Ronald, at first, the day she saw him in a crowd, but she had no sense of evading Craig. He was here. She thought no further.

* * *

Then the tall man turned his head. The profile was strange. Craig had not come. The unfamiliar face restored the clarity of her vision. No, she must not watch for him. She must not see a tall man in a crowd and follow hopefully, just to know that he was near. Craig's way and her way had parted. He belonged to somebody named Mary who did bits over the radio.

Her face was white and tired and disappointed when she entered the hotel lobby. A man in a green leatherette chair that was too small for his long legs looked serious when he saw her. He came to her quickly.

"Mr. Birrell!" Judy made her voice cool. "How nice of you to disregard my desires and locate me. I suppose you want me to say I'm glad to see you? I'm not, you know."

"Never mind. I'll do the rejoicing for both of us. I don't think much of this place."

"Since you sought it out, I think you should accept it or leave it."

"No doubt you're right."

Curiosity got the better of her aloofness. "How did you locate me?"

"You aren't very astute young lady for all your charm. I went to see the goof who makes dresses. He had it."

"Of course. I'm stupid. I can't teach school or work on the fair or anything." Her voice trembled.

"Here, take this, and cry it out." Ronald pushed a big white linen handkerchief into her hands.

"I cry alone — except I don't cry," Judy told him spiritedly.

"Good! I thought I could stop you."

"Have you told anyone about my address?" Judy asked.

"Certainly not! Give me credit for the rudiments of manners, my sweet child. But we are holding up traffic. How about calling a truce and going some place to play tonight?"

The young lawyer's face was eager and kind and the banter was going from his voice now.

"An eight-hour truce," he said solemnly, but his eyes twinkled. "Then you may cuss me out for the next 80 years. You need some fun and so do I."

* * *

Judy knew he had been working hard. She had read about some cases in the newspapers. He had been heralded as a coming genius in the legal world. Society was discovering him, too, but he had no time for it, one columnist explained. The names of a girl or two who found him attractive had accompanied that comment.

"We'll go places where no one knows us," Ronald was saying.

Judy was ready to accept. Now she hesitated. He had said: "Where no one knows US." Not "Where no one knows YOU." Was there someone whom he wanted to avoid tonight? Maybe the girl with the honey-colored hair and wide purple eyes!

"It's important that I talk to you tonight," he was insisting. "If I go home and get into a tux, will you promise not to vanish until I get back?"

Why not enjoy one evening? Maybe some place—oh, just maybe—she would catch a glimpse of Craig!

"I promise," she answered.
